Ouch!
New Taxes In Effect

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Taxes went up today on individual incomes, paycheck withholding deductions and numerous cost of living items.

Personal income rates and revised excise taxes become effective immediately. Corporate tax hikes went into effect when President Truman signed the new $5.-69 billion bill last month.

Individual tax rates are raised from 11 to 11¾ per cent with corresponding increases in withholding deductions. During the remainder of 1951, however, the increase will be slightly less than two per cent.

This is the picture on other items:

Cigarets one cent a package; a fifth of liquor, 30 cents; gasoline half-cent per gallon; automobiles, three per cent, and new trucks and buses, three per cent.

* * *

BOOKMAKERS must pay a ten per cent tax on wagers and a $50 a year occupational tax which carries no immunity from prosecution for gambling.Taxpayers will also be charged ten per cent for bets.

The Office of Price Stabilization will permit merchants to "pass through" to the public either the dollar-and-cents amount of the tax hike or percentage markup, whichever is the usual practice for the product concerned.

The government, meanwhile, announced that food prices hit a new high during the three-week period ending Oct. 15. The increase was seven-tenths of one per cent at retail levels.

The new revenue measure provides some balm for taxpayers. The 3 1-3 per cent tax on electric bills is repealed and the levy on domestic telegrams is cut from 25 to 15 per cent.

Persons who sells homes do not have to pay a capital ganis tax on the profit if they buy a dwelling of equal or greater value within a year.

In general, there is a slight increase on capital gains — a one point boost from 25 to 26 per cent.

The married man with two children and a $60 weekly paycheck will have his withholding deduction increased from $1.70 to $1.90.

* * *

FOR OTHER incomes, the withholding amounts for a four-exemption taxpayer, are: $70, $3.90—up 40 cents; $80, $5.90—up 60 cents; $90, $7.90—up 80 cents; and $100, $10.20—up 1.

The new law is designed to raise an additional $5.69 billion a year, which will bring estimated tax revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30 to $63.7 billion.

Whether the taxpayer faces depends on the international situation. President Truman has indicated he will ask additional taxes.

But Senate Finance Chairman George, (D) Ga., a powerful figure in the tax field, has announced he will support another increase only under greater threats of all - out war.

Pirate, Age 4, Wins Top Prize In Ghost Parade

A 4-year-old "pirate" won top honors Thursday during the annual Circleville Halloween parade.

He was Terry Moffitt, costumed as a pirate, who won his age group class and then collected the individual grand prize.

In all, a total of 39 prizes were awarded during the annual parade and judging which followed in Memorial Hall. Prizes totalled about $100.

About 100 ghosts, witches and hobgoblins trailed the Circleville high school band during the parade, while others, who failed to brave the chilly weather, were on hand for judging in Memorial Hall.

Best impersonation award during the parade and judging was won by Virginia Wilson and Elaine Bowman, who posed as George and Martha Washington.

PRIZE FOR the most unique costume was awarded to Mrs. Richard Dawson, who was clad in an old-fashioned dress and sporting an umbrella frame sans covering.

Ugliest costume award was won by Edith Miner, prettiest costume was won by Harriett Hall, and youngest person in the parade was Kathleen Owens, four years, five months. Oldest parader was Mrs. Ella Maiden, who admitted to 88.

Judges for the spook competition were Rose Good of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Harold Anderson of Kiwanis Club; Robert Brehmer Jr. of Rotary Club; and George Crum of Lions Club.

The parade was sponsored jointly by the Circleville Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of

LITTLE PROGRESS IS MADE

14th Talk Held On Buffer Zone To Halt Korean War

MUNSAN, Nov. 1—Allied and Communist negotiators made little progress today toward a Korea armistice, and a UN spokesman emphasized that the war will continue even if agreement is reached on a buffer zone.

The buffer zone issue was discussed for the 14th time by a truce delegation subcommittee during the day in two sessions but the Allied and Red officers agreed only that they understand each other's latest proposals on the demilitarized area.

They made no further progress on the question after meeting for a total of two hours and 55 minutes. Most of the time was spent studying maps of the proposed buffer zones offered by each side. Differences of as much as three miles regarding the line of military contact were noted by Allied officers.

At a briefing session for newsmen, an Allied spokesman pointed out that even if agreement is reached on a buffer zone, this will be subject to change by subsequent fighting during discussion of remaining items on the cease-fire conference agenda.

* * *

THE DELEGATIONS have yet to tackle the questions of exchange of prisoners and the establishment of a joint commission to supervise an armistice.

Hopes for a quick armistice had been given impetus by an Allied briefing officer who said the Reds made the "biggest" step yet toward agreement when they backed down on their earlier demands.

He referred to a new Red proposal on the armistice zone. In this proposal—offered at Wednesday's negotiations—the Reds gave up a demand that the Allies withdraw as much as 17 miles from the present line of contact.

But after Thursday's meeting, Lt. Col. Lawrence G. Hill of Montgomery, Ala., the Allied briefing officer, pointed out that either side will be free to attack even after agreement on the buffer zone is reached. He added:

"I cannot see either side giving up what it wins."

Other Allied officers pointed out that the latest Red proposal is not acceptable because it calls for withdrawal from ground which UN leaders feel is essential to the military security of their troops.

After today's two sessions, Communist newsmen said that the Red delegates at Panmunjom, the armistice parley site, would rather see a breakdown in the talks than give in further to the Allies.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, member of the Allied subcommittee with Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke, announced.

Explosions Hurt 29 In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1 — An investigation was expected to get underway today to determine the cause of a series of explosions in Pittsburgh which injured 29 people, some of them seriously, as a Halloween parade was nearing its climax.

The blasts, possibly caused by a broken gas main, occurred in the Beltzhoover district of Pittsburgh last night as hundreds of spectators, mostly young people and children, lined the sidewalks to watch Halloween marchers.

Struck Vessel Gets Slim Crew

KOBE, Japan, Nov. 1—The American freighter Flying Trader, which had been tied up since Sunday by a strike, sailed today from Kobe with a skeleton crew.

The regular crew walked off the ship when it reached Japan in protest to the slaying of Seaman William Harvey by the skipper, Capt. J. B. Weaver.

The emergency crew consists of non-Japanese seamen of different nationalities.

Senate Probers Said Checking Data On Solon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Senate probers are understood today to be checking Sen. McCarthy's bank records, a diary and letters in an attempt to complete a preliminary report by Nov. 16 on a demand for his ouster.

The Senate elections subcommittee staff was scheduled to report today, but Chief Counsel John P. Moore said the five staff investigators need more time to study new evidence.

The expulsion request was made by Sen. Benton, (D) Conn., who charged that the Wisconsin senator is guilty of calculated deceit, fraud and perjury.

Chairman Gillette, (D) Iowa, said a decision on whether to hold hearings on Benton's demand will be made after a preliminary report is filed.

Probers are said to have checked McCarthy's income tax returns back to 1931, and his bank accounts and possible stock market operations.

Investigators are studying the diary of Charles Davis, the American convicted in Switzerland of spying on U.S. diplomats abroad for McCarthy.

Davis, subpoenaed to appear before investigators in closed session Nov. 15, claimed his diary and certain letters in the hands of the State Department will support his contention he worked for McCarthy through the senator's Paris agent.

MAY GO 'UNDERGROUND'—BUT NOT FAR

Bookies, Numbers Racketeers Snub New U.S. Tax, Say They're Quitting

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — The vast army of gambling entrepreneurs who operate the nation's horse-race books and numbers rackets was plunged into gloom today with the advent of the new federal tax law.

Effective today, the businessmen whose business is in itself a violation of the law will be operating illegally unless they pay $50 for licenses to pursue their illegal business.

"We ain't going to the federal government's $50 window," howled bookie after bookie. "Why be suckers?"

In plain English they explain they will not apply for the new tax forms, buy the new $50 federal occupation stamp, register for the 10 per cent gambling tax, and keep records of their winnings.

A coast-to-coast survey disclosed many of the bookies will quit cold and others go "underground"—but not so deep that their clients can't find them.

In New York City a handful of bookies among the untold thousands picked up the new forms from the Internal Revenue Department. The others put it this way:

"Why be a sap? If we apply for a license to book we're automatically convicting ourselves because gambling is illegal in every state except Nevada. We'd face two—federal and state.'

A Washington, D. C., bookmaker snarled:

"The government thinks it will get $400 million from gamblers. It won't get four cents. Anyone with brains got out of this business last midnight."

At that moment, Las Vegas, Nev., bookmakers did get out of business. Sixteen clubs and hotels there voted to "scratch" rather than pay.

Reno bookmakers, however, decided to stay in business and pass the tax on to their patrons. One admitted: "It only lengthens the sucker's odds." In Chicago, one horse-parlor owner angrily exclaimed:

"Nobody's chasing me out of business. I spent too much time and money building it up."

He had good reason to get angry, for the bookie business is not only big, but hugely profitable.

The Kefauver Crime Committee estimated the annual profit of off-the-track books at $600 million and it estimated that a total of $20 billion changes hands annually in the nation's over-all gambling.

In Cincinnati, bookies, office pool operators and numbers men were closing up shop by the droves.

The numbers racketeers were approximately of one opinion:

"I ain't going to lead with my chin."

In the heart of downtown Cincinnati the head of an office pool, one of the biggest and oldest in the area, said flatly that his pool was a thing of the past as of midnight.

Most of them will simply go out of business to avoid paying the $50 license fee and 10 percent tax.

In Northern Kentucky, some gamblers said they would simply await "developments" of a test case against the tax in Washington. But many a Newport bookie also was locking the door for the last time.

Myron Ehrlich, an attorney in the nation's capital, has announced he will file a test suit on behalf of Cleveland sporting gentry in an effort to get the law declared unconstitutional. He commented:

"A man who files the gross receipts tax returns under this law is saying. 'I am a gambler. I swear that I am a gambler.' What more evidence do you need to convict him under state law?"

Failure to fill out the tax return subjects a gambler to a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000. Falsification involves a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

'Extraordinary' Effort Due To Break Walkout

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—The New York State Mediation Board said today that "extraordinary measures" will be taken immediately in an effort to break the deadlock in the 18-day-old east coast dock strike.

Merlyn Pitzele, mediation chairman, made the statement at the conclusion of a 12-hour meeting with opposing union factions in the wildcat longshoremen's strike.

At the same time Pitzele disclosed that Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, now has admitted for the first time that no signed contract exists between the shippers and the union.

This has been one of the main contentions of the strike leaders since the walkout began. The strikers are insisting on a reopening of the disputed contract as the only basis on which they will return to work.

They charge, moreover, that the union vote by which the controversial contract was ratified was "fraudulent" and does not represent a true majority of the members, as Ryan contends.

'Vote Nov. 6th' Signs Appear

You can't take more than a dozen steps in downtown Circleville without treading upon a challenge.

Painted on sidewalks in sparkling aluminum is the admonition: "Vote Nov. 6th."

The signs were painted Wednesday evening by two members of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, Joe Bell and Robert Brehmer Jr.

It is an annual project for the local Jaycees.

Air Pistol Brings Trouble

FINDLAY, Nov. 1 — Two teenage youths have been arraigned in Findlay on charges of shooting holes in $15,000 worth of plate glass windows with an air pistol.

Police Chief Leo M. Larkins said the boys—Carl L. Arnold, 18, of Columbus and a 14-year-old Findlay boy—admitted riding around in Arnold's car Saturday night, shooting holes in about 100 store windows.

A PAIR OF GLASS SLIPPERS that Cinderella's fairy godmother never thought of are displayed in Chicago. Jerry Caldwell pours fresh water for the goldfish swimming around inside. The walking fishbowls are scaled at around a fin a pair, presumably.

BURST SHATTERS WINDOWS

2,000 Soldiers Are Used In Latest A-Bomb Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nov. 1—A powerful air-dropped atomic bomb, which shattered windows in Las Vegas 65 airline miles away, today opened history's first atomic war games using foot soldiers.

The detonation, fourth in the recently-opened series, broke the windows of several downtown business establishments, shook other structures and rattled the roofs of several of this gambling resort's casinos.

The bomb sent a huge mushroom whooshing into the air, with the now familiar grey, golden and purple panorama of color.

Approximately 2,000 American GIs were entrenched about seven miles from the actual blast site at bleak Yucca Flat, 65 airline miles northwest of Las Vegas.

(Editor's Note: A Pickaway County soldier is assigned to Operation Desert Rock, but it was not known immediately whether he was one of the 2,000 men on this individual assignment. He is Sgt. Perry Stevens of Circleville Route 4.)

Officials said the majority of the atomic troops were members of the 11th Airborne from Camp Campbell, Ky.

It was the fourth and biggest detonation of the current atomic series.

Six minues after a red-tailed B-29 roared over the site and made the atomic drop a heavy rumble was clearly discernible in Las Vegas.

Army Secretary Frank Pace, Gen. Mark Clark and AEC Commissioners Keith T. Glennon and H. D. Smyth witnessed the explosion at a control point about 15 miles from the site.

* * *

THE AMERICAN GIs prepared for the blast by lying flat in tenches with their feet pointed toward the white-crossed bomb target area.

An AEC spokesman said:

"Well, we are on our way. Everything's fine, and we've made up for lost time on account of the bad weather.

"We're now right on schedule."

Windows rattled and shook six and one-half minutes after the fearsome nuclear weapon was detonated.

Newsmen standing with AEC officials on the roof of a three-story hotel in downtown Las Vegas felt the rumble which sounded like thunder.

The noise was of virtually the same intensity as that which followed the strategic drops in the desert testing site last February.

One airborne sergeant, in Las Vegas on a brief leave, said his combat unit had been briefed every day for the last three weeks about protection from atomic blasts, heat and radiation. He said they were informed they would be disciplined "severely" if they talked to anyone about the exercise's details unless authorized by the commanding general.

Commies Finally Reach Tibet City

SINGAPORE, Nov. 1 — Chinese Communist troops are reported to have arrived in Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, after a year's march across the mountain plateau land.

The Chinese Communist New China News Agency in a dispatch from Peiping said the troops arrived Oct. 26 under command of Gen. Cheng Ching-wu.

Cheng, named as Red China's representative in the conquered former autonomous state, was quoted as saying the Tibetan army will be reorganized within the Chinese Communist forces.

European Defense To Be Talked

Political Angles Getting Workout

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — President Truman today summoned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to Washington for important conferences next Monday and Tuesday on European defense.

The totally unexpected action of the chief executive immediately aroused speculation that Eisenhower may be planning to leave the North Atlantic army he heads to enter the U. S. political arena.

However, the White House announcement said that the general will return to his command in Paris immediately after the two-day defense conferences.

Eisenhower has been prominently mentioned as a prospective Republican presidential candidate, although the general has maintained complete silence on both his political aspirations and his political affiliations.

* * *

A FACTION within the Republican Party has been urging "Ike' as the man who could most likely return the GOP to national power by leading the political ticket in 1952.

White House News Secretary Joseph Short, who made the announcement, was asked whether there was any emergency involved in the President's order for Eisenhower to return to Washington for conferences.

He replied: "There is no emergency."

It will be the first time Eisenhower has been back to the United States since he took over command of the defense forces of the Western European Alliance ten months ago.

Eisenhower will leave Paris at 10 p. m. (Paris time) Friday and fly to Fort Knox, Ky., to spend the weekend with his son, Capt. John Eisenhower.

He will arrive in Washington early Monday.

Short said the conference will give the President and defense officials an opportunity to obtain at first hand a complete and overall picture of the progress of the North Atlantic defense buildup from the man responsible.

Thus, Mr. Truman will have Eisenhower's views on the European situation to incorporate in the President's defense recommendations that he will submit to Congress in his State of the Union message in January.

Plan To Give Nearly 4 Million Men Under Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — President Truman was disclosed today to have approved a budget plan to bring the armed forces to a strength of nearly four million men.

The plan calls for drafting and recruiting 1.2 million men next year to take care of the increase and replace men leaving the services.

The Pentagon has advised the White House that it believes the men can be obtained without drafting fathers or veterans.

But the plan will require the two-year services of almost every available young man, plus a substantial callup of reserves who have not yet seen service in the Korean war.

Of the increase to 3.9 million men, the Air Force will get nearly two-thirds to bring its strength to more than 1,250,000 men. This is to take care of a planned Air Force expansion from 95 to 138 groups.

The Marine Corps will take another big slice of the increase, in an expansion to 240,000 men, while the Army and Navy will remain at about their present strength levels —1,558,000 men in the case of the army and 810,000 for the Navy.

The previous goal of the armed forces had been 3,598,000 men. More than 3,400,000 are now under arms.

12 Miners Die In Pit Blast

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 1—Sorrow hung heavy over the nearby coal mining settlement of Cabincreek today as the community began preparations to bury the victims of an explosion which trapped 12 miners deep in a mine tunnel.

Rescue workers carried out the last of the blanket-wrapped bodies late yesterday after working for nearly 24 hours to reach the entombed men in the hope that some of them might be alive.

Truman Asks New Setup For Aides

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — President Truman announced today that he will ask Congress in January to put tax collectors under civil service.

The internal revenue collectors are now given political appointments. Congress has uncovered widespread scandals in the internal revenue system, leading to the ouster of six tax collectors.

Leopard Beaten To Death By Arkansas Logger

MT. IDA, Ark., Nov. 1—A rugged mountaineer killed a vicious circus leopard today by beating it to death with his empty rifle when the big cat caught him alone in a forest near here.

Roston Fair, a 30-year-old logger from nearby Pencil Bluffs, Ark.,said he battered the leopard to the ground three times in a bloody, 20-minute struggle before the wild beast died.

The logger escaped without a scratch.

Fair took his hunting dog and a rifle into the woods this morning to "do a little hunting on my own" for the leopard, a polar bear and two black bears that escaped from a smashed circus truck yesterday. He did not join a 150-man posse combing the hills

This was the logger's story of the battle:

"My dog jumped this leopard way off in the woods with no one else near. There was an awful fight and I used up all my ammunition trying to kill the cat without hurting my dog. I missed.

"Then my dog was dead, my rifle was empty and that leopard came at me. I picked up my rifle by the barrel and swung it at him. I clubbed him about five good ones and he went down.

"I bent over to look at him and he lunged at me again. I beat him down again but he got up a third time and came after me. When I hit him that time I didn't let him up again—I just kept swinging.

The hunt for the escaped animals began yesterday after a circus truck skidded and overturned on a curve.

Most of them will simply go out of business to avoid paying the $50 license fee and 10 percent tax.

In Northern Kentucky, some gamblers said they would simply await "developments" of a test case against the tax in Washington. But many a Newport bookie also was locking the door for the last time.

Myron Ehrlich, an attorney in the nation's capital, has announced he will file a test suit on behalf of Cleveland sporting gentry in an effort to get the law declared unconstitutional. He commented:

"A man who files the gross receipts tax returns under this law is saying. 'I am a gambler. I swear that I am a gambler.' What more evidence do you need to convict him under state law?"

Failure to fill out the tax return subjects a gambler to a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000. Falsification involves a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

'Extraordinary' Effort Due To Break Walkout

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—The New York State Mediation Board said today that "extraordinary measures" will be taken immediately in an effort to break the deadlock in the 18-day-old east coast dock strike.

Merlyn Pitzele, mediation chairman, made the statement at the conclusion of a 12-hour meeting with opposing union factions in the wildcat longshoremen's strike.

At the same time Pitzele disclosed that Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, now has admitted for the first time that no signed contract exists between the shippers and the union.

This has been one of the main contentions of the strike leaders since the walkout began. The strikers are insisting on a reopening of the disputed contract as the only basis on which they will return to work.

They charge, moreover, that the union vote by which the controversial contract was ratified was "fraudulent" and does not represent a true majority of the members, as Ryan contends.

Senate Probers Said Checking Data On Solon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Senate probers are understood today to be checking Sen. McCarthy's bank records, a diary and letters in an attempt to complete a preliminary report by Nov. 16 on a demand for his ouster.

The Senate elections subcommittee staff was scheduled to report today, but Chief Counsel John P. Moore said the five staff investigators need more time to study new evidence.

The expulsion request was made by Sen. Benton, (D) Conn., who charged that the Wisconsin senator is guilty of calculated deceit, fraud and perjury.

Chairman Gillette, (D) Iowa, said a decision on whether to hold hearings on Benton's demand will be made after a preliminary report is filed.

Probers are said to have checked McCarthy's income tax returns back to 1931, and his bank accounts and possible stock market operations.

Investigators are studying the diary of Charles Davis, the American convicted in Switzerland of spying on U.S. diplomats abroad for McCarthy.

Davis, subpoenaed to appear before investigators in closed session Nov. 15, claimed his diary and certain letters in the hands of the State Department will support his contention he worked for McCarthy through the senator's Paris agent.

'Vote Nov. 6th' Signs Appear

You can't take more than a dozen steps in downtown Circleville without treading upon a challenge.

The signs were painted Wednesday evening by two members of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, Joe Bell and Robert Brehmer Jr.

It is an annual project for the local Jaycees.

Air Pistol Brings Trouble

FINDLAY, Nov. 1 — Two teenage youths have been arraigned in Findlay on charges of shooting holes in $15,000 worth of plate glass windows with an air pistol.

Police Chief Leo M. Larkins said the boys—Carl L. Arnold, 18, of Columbus and a 14-year-old Findlay boy—admitted riding around in Arnold's car Saturday night, shooting holes in about 100 store windows.

BURST SHATTERS WINDOWS

2,000 Soldiers Are Used In Latest A-Bomb Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nov. 1—A powerful air-dropped atomic bomb, which shattered windows in Las Vegas 65 airline miles away, today opened history's first atomic war games using foot soldiers.

The detonation, fourth in the recently-opened series, broke the windows of several downtown business establishments, shook other structures and rattled the roofs of several of this gambling resort's casinos.

The bomb sent a huge mushroom whooshing into the air, with the now familiar grey, golden and purple panorama of color.

Approximately 2,000 American GIs were entrenched about seven miles from the actual blast site at bleak Yucca Flat, 65 airline miles northwest of Las Vegas.

(Editor's Note: A Pickaway County soldier is assigned to Operation Desert Rock, but it was not known immediately whether he was one of the 2,000 men on this individual assignment. He is Sgt. Perry Stevens of Circleville Route 4.)

Officials said the majority of the atomic troops were members of the 11th Airborne from Camp Campbell, Ky.

It was the fourth and biggest detonation of the current atomic series.

Six minues after a red-tailed B-29 roared over the site and made the atomic drop a heavy rumble was clearly discernible in Las Vegas.

Army Secretary Frank Pace, Gen. Mark Clark and AEC Commissioners Keith T. Glennon and H. D. Smyth witnessed the explosion at a control point about 15 miles from the site.

* * *

THE AMERICAN GIs prepared for the blast by lying flat in tenches with their feet pointed toward the white-crossed bomb target area.

An AEC spokesman said:

"Well, we are on our way. Everything's fine, and we've made up for lost time on account of the bad weather.

"We're now right on schedule."

Windows rattled and shook six and one-half minutes after the fearsome nuclear weapon was detonated.

Newsmen standing with AEC officials on the roof of a three-story hotel in downtown Las Vegas felt the rumble which sounded like thunder.

The noise was of virtually the same intensity as that which followed the strategic drops in the desert testing site last February.

One airborne sergeant, in Las Vegas on a brief leave, said his combat unit had been briefed every day for the last three weeks about protection from atomic blasts, heat and radiation. He said they were informed they would be disciplined "severely" if they talked to anyone about the exercise's details unless authorized by the commanding general.

Commies Finally Reach Tibet City

SINGAPORE, Nov. 1 — Chinese Communist troops are reported to have arrived in Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, after a year's march across the mountain plateau land.

The Chinese Communist New China News Agency in a dispatch from Peiping said the troops arrived Oct. 26 under command of Gen. Cheng Ching-wu.

Cheng, named as Red China's representative in the conquered former autonomous state, was quoted as saying the Tibetan army will be reorganized within the Chinese Communist forces.

Plan To Give Nearly 4 Million Men Under Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — President Truman was disclosed today to have approved a budget plan to bring the armed forces to a strength of nearly four million men.

The plan calls for drafting and recruiting 1.2 million men next year to take care of the increase and replace men leaving the services.

The Pentagon has advised the White House that it believes the men can be obtained without drafting fathers or veterans.

But the plan will require the two-year services of almost every available young man, plus a substantial callup of reserves who have not yet seen service in the Korean war.

Of the increase to 3.9 million men, the Air Force will get nearly two-thirds to bring its strength to more than 1,250,000 men. This is to take care of a planned Air Force expansion from 95 to 138 groups.

The Marine Corps will take another big slice of the increase, in an expansion to 240,000 men, while the Army and Navy will remain at about their present strength levels —1,558,000 men in the case of the army and 810,000 for the Navy.

The previous goal of the armed forces had been 3,598,000 men. More than 3,400,000 are now under arms.

12 Miners Die In Pit Blast

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 1—Sorrow hung heavy over the nearby coal mining settlement of Cabincreek today as the community began preparations to bury the victims of an explosion which trapped 12 miners deep in a mine tunnel.

Rescue workers carried out the last of the blanket-wrapped bodies late yesterday after working for nearly 24 hours to reach the entombed men in the hope that some of them might be alive.

Truman Asks New Setup For Aides

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — President Truman announced today that he will ask Congress in January to put tax collectors under civil service.

The internal revenue collectors are now given political appointments. Congress has uncovered widespread scandals in the internal revenue system, leading to the ouster of six tax collectors.

European Defense To Be Talked

Political Angles Getting Workout

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — President Truman today summoned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to Washington for important conferences next Monday and Tuesday on European defense.

The totally unexpected action of the chief executive immediately aroused speculation that Eisenhower may be planning to leave the North Atlantic army he heads to enter the U. S. political arena.

However, the White House announcement said that the general will return to his command in Paris immediately after the two-day defense conferences.

Eisenhower has been prominently mentioned as a prospective Republican presidential candidate, although the general has maintained complete silence on both his political aspirations and his political affiliations.

* * *

A FACTION within the Republican Party has been urging "Ike' as the man who could most likely return the GOP to national power by leading the political ticket in 1952.

White House News Secretary Joseph Short, who made the announcement, was asked whether there was any emergency involved in the President's order for Eisenhower to return to Washington for conferences.

He replied: "There is no emergency."

It will be the first time Eisenhower has been back to the United States since he took over command of the defense forces of the Western European Alliance ten months ago.

Eisenhower will leave Paris at 10 p. m. (Paris time) Friday and fly to Fort Knox, Ky., to spend the weekend with his son, Capt. John Eisenhower.

He will arrive in Washington early Monday.

Short said the conference will give the President and defense officials an opportunity to obtain at first hand a complete and overall picture of the progress of the North Atlantic defense buildup from the man responsible.

Thus, Mr. Truman will have Eisenhower's views on the European situation to incorporate in the President's defense recommendations that he will submit to Congress in his State of the Union message in January.

Leopard Beaten To Death By Arkansas Logger

MT. IDA, Ark., Nov. 1—A rugged mountaineer killed a vicious circus leopard today by beating it to death with his empty rifle when the big cat caught him alone in a forest near here.

Roston Fair, a 30-year-old logger from nearby Pencil Bluffs, Ark.,said he battered the leopard to the ground three times in a bloody, 20-minute struggle before the wild beast died.

The logger escaped without a scratch.

Fair took his hunting dog and a rifle into the woods this morning to "do a little hunting on my own" for the leopard, a polar bear and two black bears that escaped from a smashed circus truck yesterday. He did not join a 150-man posse combing the hills

This was the logger's story of the battle:

"My dog jumped this leopard way off in the woods with no one else near. There was an awful fight and I used up all my ammunition trying to kill the cat without hurting my dog. I missed.

"Then my dog was dead, my rifle was empty and that leopard came at me. I picked up my rifle by the barrel and swung it at him. I clubbed him about five good ones and he went down.

"I bent over to look at him and he lunged at me again. I beat him down again but he got up a third time and came after me. When I hit him that time I didn't let him up again—I just kept swinging.

The hunt for the escaped animals began yesterday after a circus truck skidded and overturned on a curve.

5-Alarm Fire Hits Box Plant

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1 — A five-alarm, $350,000 fire swept through the two-story Cleveland Container plant on Cleveland's west side today.

Fire Chief Elmer Cain said the blaze was touched off by an explosion which followed when a watchman turned on an electric switch connected to a heating unit.

The blast blew out a portion of a brick wall and toppled over a box car standing on a siding adjacent to the rambling plant. No persons were injured. The firm manufactures corrugated boxes.

Rain Dampens City Affair

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Drizzling rain and the first snow of the season threw a damper on Halloween activities last night in Columbus.

The annual Halloween street celebration was scarcely a shadow of its usual size. Where 40,000 merrymakers usually cavorted, only 10,000 celebrating persons took over the downtown section, tossing confetti, soaping windows and ripping off masks.

Even they began leaving the streets, however, when the snow and rain started at 8:30.

The power loom was invented by Edward Cartwright, an English clergyman, in 1785.

Medical 'Oscars' Go To 6 Doctors And Two Groups

Dr. Elise L'Esperance, founder of the Strang Clinic of New York, and Dr Catherine MacFarlane of Pennsylvania Women's Medical college, for "inspiring application of preventive medicine to cancer control."

Alcoholics Anonymous received medical recognition for the first time in its 16-year history with the presentation of the Lasker group award "in recognition of its unique and highly successful approach" to the disease of alcoholism.

Hunted Man Found 'Ill'

NEW YORK, Nov 1—A reported nationwide hunt for a New York engineering firm official ended when the man himself telephoned from Provo, Utah, to say he had been ill and under treatment of a doctor there.

Announcement of the call from the man, Craig T. Naudain, was made by his firm, Drake-Merritt, which is engaged in secret construction work for the Army.

The firm's connection with military work had increased interest in the apparent disappearance of Naudain, whose whereabouts were unknown to his New York office for about two weeks.

Optimism Seen For Iran Talks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Acting Secretary of State Webb believes there is some basis for optimism that the Anglo-Iranian talks on the Middle East oil crisis will be resumed.

Webb told a news conference that discussions thus far between Assistant Secretary of State McGhee and Iranian Premier Mossadegh have been purely informal and with a view to finding a basis for resumption of negotiations.

He declared that no concrete plan had been decided upon and said he is uncertain whether the talks, if resumed, would take place in Washington or elsewhere.

Church Property Is Tax Exempt

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—The state supreme court today reversed the board of tax appeals and ruled that the property of the Hubbard Press in Findlay was tax exempt.

The sole function of the company is to print envelopes for the Presbyterian church to promote systematic giving. The tax appeals board denied exemption, but the supreme court held that, where a church has organized a non-profit corporation as one of its agencies to carry on one of its charitable functions, the property of such a corporation is exempt.

Burr Oak Lake Flooding Urged By Legal Chief

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Attorney General C. William O'Neill recommended federal action today to speed the flooding of the Burr Oak Lake in Athens and Morgan Counties.

The flooding of the reservoir is being delayed by the refusal of two landowners to abide by options they granted the state and their refusal to accept the state's checks for their land.

If the mattter were turned over to the federal government, O'Neill could be started and the land flooded immediately. The state also has the power to condemn, but it must finish all court action before it can take possession.

O'Neill agreed with Congressman Tom Jenkins (R-Ironton) that a federal suit could close the floodgates by Dec. 15.

However, Wildlife Division Chief A. W. Marion contended that several tracts in the lake bottom area still must be cleared, and that meanwhile the state could probably proceed with its suit to compel specific compliance with the terms of the options.

Marion said he hoped the litigation could be fought to a successful conclusion so that the lake could be filled no later than February 1. However, O'Neill said that so far Marion hasn't even turned over to his office one of the two cases in question.

County Engineer Henry McCrady added that the bridge has been struck by a vehicle, inflicting a 17-inch list on the east side.

Archaeologically, the history of North America goes back to 450 A.D.

HOW TO DETECT TERMITES

Termites, sometimes mistakenly called "white ants," are tiny, wood-eating insects, living in well-organized colonies. It is conservatively estimated that these insects destroy over three hundred million dollars worth of property each year. Termites are a hidden public enemy. Day and night they work, silently and unseen, eating deeper and deeper into sound timber, until finally nothing remains but a thin, empty shell. No unprotected wood is safe from the attack of the termite. One queen at full maturity can produce from 50 to 75 thousand eggs per day.

Only rarely is the presence of termites detected before considerable damage has been done, and frequently not until the timber collapses. Termites may now be destroying your building, unseen and unsuspected.

There are two ways to find out whether your home is being attacked by termites. First, you may see winged reproductive termites (often called "flying ants") around your home in the Spring or Fall. This is a positive indication of a termite colony nearby, perhaps under your own house. Second the most certain method is to let a Newark Termite Control trained inspector examine your property. There is no charge or obligation. On request, an inspector will check your property for termites and termite damage and give you a reliable report on its condition.

Rookie Resigns, Leaving Police Force Here Slim

Circleville's police force was whittled down by the loss of another man this week.

Officer James Cockrell, appointed to the force several weeks ago following civil service exams, left the force Wednesday to return to garage work.

Cockrell's resignation left the force with only seven men and Chief William F. McCrady. Other officers are Elmer Merriman, George Green, Turney Ross, Rod List, John White, Bob Temple and Charles Smith.

Safety Director Clyde Leist said the force now has openings for two new patrolmen, and added he will request another examination to be given by the civil service board.

McCrady said Cockrell's place will be filled temporarily by a special officer.

Burglars Enter Local School

Burglars entered Walnut Street school Wednesday night, apparently in search for money, but their efforts were futile.

Nothing was reported missing, local police said although the intruders used a spade to pry open the doors of a cupboard.

The upstairs of the school was also ransacked. How the burglars gained entrance into the building has not been determined, police reported. The door of the building had not been damaged.

The pension board is made up of two policemen, two councilmen and two private citizens.

Legal Technicality Delays Hearing In County Court

Another drunken driving case has been tossed back into Circleville mayor's court for lack of a single technical statement.

Prosecutor Guy Cline Thursday returned the case of Robert Davis, 35, of Kingston Route 1, to mayor's court when he discovered a necessary part of the procedure missing.

Cline said the mayor had, in placing Davis on $500 bond for grand jury action on an accusation of drunken driving, failed to complete the action.

The prosecutor pointed out that the mayor had failed to include a statement, required by law, on his docket or on the transcript. The statement necessary under law is that the mayor feels that the case should be tried in the higher court "in public interest."

Mayor Thurman I. Miller later Thursday said he planned to make the necessary correction and send the case back to common pleas court.

Thieves Take $39 In Cash From Local Laundry

Thieves obtained $39 in cash and and an undetermined amount of clothing Wednesday night in a break-in at Porter's Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. plant, on Route 23 north.

Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff reported that the thieves gained entrance through the rear door of the plant and found the money in a cabinet in the back of the buildign.

Investigating officers found footprints near the rear entrance which were thought to have been made by juveniles.

The door of the plant was found standing open Thursday morning. The sheriff conceded that the door may have been left unlocked.

Airman Injured In Car Crash Early Thursday

A 21-year-old Air Force corporal stationed at Lockbourne Air Base was critically injured early Thursday when his auto crashed into a guard railing at Little Walnut.

He is Cpl. Albert F. Becker, originally of Brooklyn, who suffered a fractured skull and brain concussion in the mishap.

The accident happened at about 12:30 a. m. Thusday on Route 23 at Little Walnut when Becker's auto went out of control.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards said the auto, travelling north on Route 23, swerved to the left and struck a guard rail. Becker's body was thrown from the auto there, and the man was found lying along the guard rail when help arrived.

The Becker auto knocked down about 25 feet of guard railing on the left side of the road and then, driverless, crashed into the railing on the other side. The auto was demolished.

Cpl. Becker was given emergency treatment in Berger hospital, later was transferred into the Lockbourne Air Force Base hospital.

5-Alarm Fire Hits Box Plant

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1 — A five-alarm, $350,000 fire swept through the two-story Cleveland Container plant on Cleveland's west side today.

Fire Chief Elmer Cain said the blaze was touched off by an explosion which followed when a watchman turned on an electric switch connected to a heating unit.

The blast blew out a portion of a brick wall and toppled over a box car standing on a siding adjacent to the rambling plant. No persons were injured. The firm manufactures corrugated boxes.

Rain Dampens City Affair

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Drizzling rain and the first snow of the season threw a damper on Halloween activities last night in Columbus.

The annual Halloween street celebration was scarcely a shadow of its usual size. Where 40,000 merrymakers usually cavorted, only 10,000 celebrating persons took over the downtown section, tossing confetti, soaping windows and ripping off masks.

Even they began leaving the streets, however, when the snow and rain started at 8:30.

The power loom was invented by Edward Cartwright, an English clergyman, in 1785.

Medical 'Oscars' Go To 6 Doctors And Two Groups

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1—The 1951 "Oscars" of the medical world have been awarded to six doctors and two organizations for outstanding service and achievement in the realm of public health and preventive medicine.

The winged victory figures of the annual Lasker Foundation awards were presented through the auspices of the American Public Health Association during the first general session of the association's 79th annual meeting.

Recipients of the awards in ceremonies in San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House included:

Dr. William G. Lennox of Boston, and Dr. Frederick A. Gibbs of University of Illinois, for research leading to the increased understanding of epilepsy and to the relief of a "host of sufferers from misery."

Dr. Elise L'Esperance, founder of the Strang Clinic of New York, and Dr Catherine MacFarlane of Pennsylvania Women's Medical college, for "inspiring application of preventive medicine to cancer control."

Alcoholics Anonymous received medical recognition for the first time in its 16-year history with the presentation of the Lasker group award "in recognition of its unique and highly successful approach" to the disease of alcoholism.

Hunted Man Found 'Ill'

NEW YORK, Nov 1—A reported nationwide hunt for a New York engineering firm official ended when the man himself telephoned from Provo, Utah, to say he had been ill and under treatment of a doctor there.

Announcement of the call from the man, Craig T. Naudain, was made by his firm, Drake-Merritt, which is engaged in secret construction work for the Army.

The firm's connection with military work had increased interest in the apparent disappearance of Naudain, whose whereabouts were unknown to his New York office for about two weeks.

Optimism Seen For Iran Talks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Acting Secretary of State Webb believes there is some basis for optimism that the Anglo-Iranian talks on the Middle East oil crisis will be resumed.

Webb told a news conference that discussions thus far between Assistant Secretary of State McGhee and Iranian Premier Mossadegh have been purely informal and with a view to finding a basis for resumption of negotiations.

He declared that no concrete plan had been decided upon and said he is uncertain whether the talks, if resumed, would take place in Washington or elsewhere.

Church Property Is Tax Exempt

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—The state supreme court today reversed the board of tax appeals and ruled that the property of the Hubbard Press in Findlay was tax exempt.

The sole function of the company is to print envelopes for the Presbyterian church to promote systematic giving. The tax appeals board denied exemption, but the supreme court held that, where a church has organized a non-profit corporation as one of its agencies to carry on one of its charitable functions, the property of such a corporation is exempt.

Burr Oak Lake Flooding Urged By Legal Chief

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Attorney General C. William O'Neill recommended federal action today to speed the flooding of the Burr Oak Lake in Athens and Morgan Counties.

The flooding of the reservoir is being delayed by the refusal of two landowners to abide by options they granted the state and their refusal to accept the state's checks for their land.

If the mattter were turned over to the federal government, O'Neill could be started and the land flooded immediately. The state also has the power to condemn, but it must finish all court action before it can take possession.

O'Neill agreed with Congressman Tom Jenkins (R-Ironton) that a federal suit could close the floodgates by Dec. 15.

However, Wildlife Division Chief A. W. Marion contended that several tracts in the lake bottom area still must be cleared, and that meanwhile the state could probably proceed with its suit to compel specific compliance with the terms of the options.

Marion said he hoped the litigation could be fought to a successful conclusion so that the lake could be filled no later than February 1. However, O'Neill said that so far Marion hasn't even turned over to his office one of the two cases in question.

County Engineer Henry McCrady added that the bridge has been struck by a vehicle, inflicting a 17-inch list on the east side.

Archaelogically, the history of North America goes back to 450 A.D.

HOW TO DETECT TERMITES

Termites, sometimes mistakenly called "white ants," are tiny, wood-eating insects, living in well-organized colonies. It is conservatively estimated that these insects destroy over three hundred million dollars worth of property each year. Termites are a hidden public enemy. Day and night they work, silently and unseen, eating deeper and deeper into sound timber, until finally nothing remains but a thin, empty shell. No unprotected wood is safe from the attack of the termite. One queen at full maturity can produce from 50 to 75 thousand eggs per day.

Only rarely is the presence of termites detected before considerable damage has been done, and frequently not until the timber collapses. Termites may now be destroying your building, unseen and unsuspected.

There are two ways to find out whether your home is being attacked by termites. First, you may see winged reproductive termites (often called "flying ants") around your home in the Spring or Fall. This is a positive indication of a termite colony nearby, perhaps under your own house. Second the most certain method is to let a Newark Termite Control trained inspector examine your property. There is no charge or obligation. On request, an inspector will check your property for termites and termite damage and give you a reliable report on its condition.

Legal Technicality Delays Hearing In County Court

Another drunken driving case has been tossed back into Circleville mayor's court for lack of a single technical statement.

Prosecutor Guy Cline Thursday returned the case of Robert Davis, 35, of Kingston Route 1, to mayor's court when he discovered a necessary part of the procedure missing.

Cline said the mayor had, in placing Davis on $500 bond for grand jury action on an accusation of drunken driving, failed to complete the action.

The prosecutor pointed out that the mayor had failed to include a statement, required by law, on his docket or on the transcript. The statement necessary under law is that the mayor feels that the case should be tried in the higher court "in public interest."

Mayor Thurman I. Miller later Thursday said he planned to make the necessary correction and send the case back to common pleas court.

BEER CANS ON WAY OUT?

U.S. Tin Supply Skimpy, Federal Chiefs Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—The government is prepared to cut back beer can production and undertake other conservation measures to offset the serious loss of Bolivian tin shipments to the U. S.

National Production Authority officials disclosed new regulations curbing domestic tin manufacturing are "under consideration" and may be issued shortly unless a deal is worked out with Bolivia.

Government experts made the statement in explaining the effects of the collapse of RFC negotiations last week with the South American country for resumption of tin shipments to this country.

The discussions on the arrangement of a long-term tin contract hit a snag when Bolivia insisted the U. S. pay $1.50 a pound for tin. RFC said it would pay no more than $1.12.

* * *

THIS COUNTRY normally obtains half ot its tin supply from Bolivia and except for a token 30-day shipment recently, tin supplies have been suspended since last Spring.

While the government maintains a tin supply in the strategic stockpile and in RFC reserves, the total amount in this country has been dwindling under increased demands from industry.

NPA has classified tin as one of 12 metals that are "most critical" on the shortage list and in a recent report has said: "The suspension of tin purchases due to excessive prices has resulted in considerable reduction in tin's industrial stocks."

NPA officials conceded that the situation is "not good" but they added that the government's position is to "hold the line, hoping something will break."

Meanwhile, the agency is studying ways and means of restricting tin consumption if negotiations are not resumed and a contract is not settled.

Tin supplies generally have been reduced ten per cent below the amounts used during the first six months of 1950. This may be tightened shortly.

Moreover, NPA recently announced a production program that would allow manufacturers to produce more tin cans in the 12 months starting last Oct. 1 than in any other similar period.

This plan gave more cans to food processors, but containers for beer and other less essential products were cut 30 per cent.

Officials indicated the brunt of any new controls would hit products in this latter catebory but they said the government is not ready yet to say how far it will go.

A "monkey fist," in the language of sailors, is a heavy knot placed on the end of a heaving line to give it weight.

Ohio Machinist Gets Recognition

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—The state education department has announced that William A. Navojosky, a machinist apprentice from Salem, will represent Ohio at the 56th annual Congress of American Industry.

The congress, to be held in New York in December, is sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers. An apprentice from each region of the NAM is to get a one week expense-free trip to the congress.

Wife-Killer Nabbed While Opening Oysters

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1—Morely Vernon King, alleged wife-killer and one of the nation's ten "most wanted criminals," was arrested by FBI men last night as he was opening oysters as a restaurant chef.

King, 50, offered no resistance to the FBI men who had swarmed into the kitchen of the Germantown restaurant. He dropped his oyster knife and said, "I wondered when the FBI would get me."

He will be given a hearing today before U.S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr in Philadelphia.

He had been hunted for the trunk murder of his wife, Helen, at San Luis Obispo, Cal., in July 9, 1947.

King, who had used the name of William Cobel Wilson, had been hired only three weeks before by Nicholas Montagna, owner of the restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Montagna, 35, appeared shaken by the arrest of his second cook, saying, "you wouldn't think there was anything bad about him. He was a real pleasant guy who always took my orders."

Farmer Now Has $4.75 In Cash For Every Dollar Held In '40

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—A government farm finance expert indicates that farmers have been holding about $4.75 in cash and savings this year for every dollar they had in 1940.

Roy J. Burroughs, of the Agriculture Department finance division, told an outlook conference in Washington that this ready money could pay off all farm debts and still leave a balance of nearly $7 billion.

In 1940 it was a different story, he said. The debts then amounted to almost $2.50 for every dollar in the bank or in cash.

How much good do these available dollars do the American farmer?

Inflation complicates the answer. The farmer can buy more than he could in 1940, but he can't buy as much as the dollar increase shows.

Despite the big gains in cash and savings, such money will buy only a little more than twice as much as it would in prewar days.

* * *

SIMILARLY, farmers netted about three times as much last year than they did in 1940, but they could buy only one and a half times as much in goods.

Farmers now can buy from one and a half to two times as much with today's income, cash and savings than they could with what they had eleven years ago.

There's another bright side to the picture A farmer's biggest assets are such things as land, buildings, livestock and machinery. And these are not included in the estimate of cash and savings.

Another important thing tempers the farm finance picture. The cash and savings and net income figures lump all farmers together, although every farmer knows of others in dire poverty or with considerable wealth.

For example, a fairly recent survey by private and government researchers in Virginia showed that about two per cent of all farm operators in that state had net worths of less than $500 while about three per cent were worth $50,000 or more.

Pickaway Gets $3,900 Share Of Liquor Fees

Pickaway County Wednesday received $3,900 as part of the quarterly permit fee distribution from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

According to William C. Bryant, director of the liquor department, the fees were distributed to local political sub-divisions for the quarter ending Sept. 15. Fees are collected on each permit issued or renewed by the Department for the manufacture, distribution, and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Each fee is returned to the local political sub-division where the permit premise is located.

"Primary responsibility for enforcing liquor laws and regulations rests with local law enforcement officers. The statutes contemplated that this money should be used for this purpose," Bryant explained.

A total of $1,831,419.78 was distributed to political sub-divisions in Ohio.

5-Alarm Fire Hits Box Plant

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1 — A five-alarm, $350,000 fire swept through the two-story Cleveland Container plant on Cleveland's west side today.

Fire Chief Elmer Cain said the blaze was touched off by an explosion which followed when a watchman turned on an electric switch connected to a heating unit.

The blast blew out a portion of a brick wall and toppled over a box car standing on a siding adjacent to the rambling plant. No persons were injured. The firm manufactures corrugated boxes.

Rain Dampens City Affair

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Drizzling rain and the first snow of the season threw a damper on Halloween activities last night in Columbus.

The annual Halloween street celebration was scarcely a shadow of its usual size. Where 40,000 merrymakers usually cavorted, only 10,000 celebrating persons took over the downtown section, tossing confetti, soaping windows and ripping off masks.

Even they began leaving the streets, however, when the snow and rain started at 8:30.

The power loom was invented by Edward Cartwright, an English clergyman, in 1785.

Medical 'Oscars' Go To 6 Doctors And Two Groups

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1—The 1951 "Oscars" of the medical world have been awarded to six doctors and two organizations for outstanding service and achievement in the realm of public health and preventive medicine.

The winged victory figures of the annual Lasker Foundation awards were presented through the auspices of the American Public Health Association during the first general session of the association's 79th annual meeting.

Recipients of the awards in ceremonies in San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House included:

Dr. William G. Lennox of Boston, and Dr. Frederick A. Gibbs of University of Illinois, for research leading to the increased understanding of epilepsy and to the relief of a "host of sufferers from misery."

Dr. Elise L'Esperance, founder of the Strang Clinic of New York, and Dr Catherine MacFarlane of Pennsylvania Women's Medical college, for "inspiring application of preventive medicine to cancer control."

Alcoholics Anonymous received medical recognition for the first time in its 16-year history with the presentation of the Lasker group award "in recognition of its unique and highly successful approach" to the disease of alcoholism.

Hunted Man Found 'Ill'

NEW YORK, Nov 1—A reported nationwide hunt for a New York engineering firm official ended when the man himself telephoned from Provo, Utah, to say he had been ill and under treatment of a doctor there.

Announcement of the call from the man, Craig T. Naudain, was made by his firm, Drake-Merritt, which is engaged in secret construction work for the Army.

The firm's connection with military work had increased interest in the apparent disappearance of Naudain, whose whereabouts were unknown to his New York office for about two weeks.

Optimism Seen For Iran Talks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Acting Secretary of State Webb believes there is some basis for optimism that the Anglo-Iranian talks on the Middle East oil crisis will be resumed.

Webb told a news conference that discussions thus far between Assistant Secretary of State McGhee and Iranian Premier Mossadegh have been purely informal and with a view to finding a basis for resumption of negotiations.

He declared that no concrete plan had been decided upon and said he is uncertain whether the talks, if resumed, would take place in Washington or elsewhere.

Church Property Is Tax Exempt

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—The state supreme court today reversed the board of tax appeals and ruled that the property of the Hubbard Press in Findlay was tax exempt.

The sole function of the company is to print envelopes for the Presbyterian church to promote systematic giving. The tax appeals board denied exemption, but the supreme court held that, where a church has organized a non-profit corporation as one of its agencies to carry on one of its charitable functions, the property of such a corporation is exempt.

Burr Oak Lake Flooding Urged By Legal Chief

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Attorney General C. William O'Neill recommended federal action today to speed the flooding of the Burr Oak Lake in Athens and Morgan Counties.

The flooding of the reservoir is being delayed by the refusal of two landowners to abide by options they granted the state and their refusal to accept the state's checks for their land.

If the mattter were turned over to the federal government, O'Neill could be started and the land flooded immediately. The state also has the power to condemn, but it must finish all court action before it can take possession.

O'Neill agreed with Congressman Tom Jenkins (R-Ironton) that a federal suit could close the floodgates by Dec. 15.

However, Wildlife Division Chief A. W. Marion contended that several tracts in the lake bottom area still must be cleared, and that meanwhile the state could probably proceed with its suit to compel specific compliance with the terms of the options.

Marion said he hoped the litigation could be fought to a successful conclusion so that the lake could be filled no later than February 1. However, O'Neill said that so far Marion hasn't even turned over to his office one of the two cases in question.

Walnut Bridge Has Load Limit

Warning was given to truck drivers Thursday that a load limit of three tons is still effective on a bridge in Walnut Township, even though the signs may not be up to show it.

Commissioner John Keller said a three-ton limit is in effect on the wooden bridge spanning Little Walnut Creek on the Walnut Creek Pike.

County Engineer Henry McCrady added that the bridge has been struck by a vehicle, inflicting a 17-inch list on the east side.

Archaelogically, the history of North America goes back to 450 A.D.

HOW TO DETECT TERMITES

Termites, sometimes mistakenly called "white ants," are tiny, wood-eating insects, living in well-organized colonies. It is conservatively estimated that these insects destroy over three hundred million dollars worth of property each year. Termites are a hidden public enemy. Day and night they work, silently and unseen, eating deeper and deeper into sound timber, until finally nothing remains but a thin, empty shell. No unprotected wood is safe from the attack of the termite. One queen at full maturity can produce from 50 to 75 thousand eggs per day.

Only rarely is the presence of termites detected before considerable damage has been done, and frequently not until the timber collapses. Termites may now be destroying your building, unseen and unsuspected.

There are two ways to find out whether your home is being attacked by termites. First, you may see winged reproductive termites (often called "flying ants") around your home in the Spring or Fall. This is a positive indication of a termite colony nearby, perhaps under your own house. Second the most certain method is to let a Newark Termite Control trained inspector examine your property. There is no charge or obligation. On request, an inspector will check your property for termites and termite damage and give you a reliable report on its condition.

Rookie Resigns, Leaving Police Force Here Slim

Circleville's police force was whittled down by the loss of another man this week.

Officer James Cockrell, appointed to the force several weeks ago following civil service exams, left the force Wednesday to return to garage work.

Cockrell's resignation left the force with only seven men and Chief William F. McCrady. Other officers are Elmer Merriman, George Green, Turney Ross, Rod List, John White, Bob Temple and Charles Smith.

Safety Director Clyde Leist said the force now has openings for two new patrolmen, and added he will request another examination to be given by the civil service board.

McCrady said Cockrell's place will be filled temporarily by a special officer.

Burglars Enter Local School

Burglars entered Walnut Street school Wednesday night, apparently in search for money, but their efforts were futile.

Nothing was reported missing, local police said although the intruders used a spade to pry open the doors of a cupboard.

The upstairs of the school was also ransacked. How the burglars gained entrance into the building has not been determined, police reported. The door of the building had not been damaged.

Legal Technicality Delays Hearing In County Court

Another drunken driving case has been tossed back into Circleville mayor's court for lack of a single technical statement.

Prosecutor Guy Cline Thursday returned the case of Robert Davis, 35, of Kingston Route 1, to mayor's court when he discovered a necessary part of the procedure missing.

Cline said the mayor had, in placing Davis on $500 bond for grand jury action on an accusation of drunken driving, failed to complete the action.

The prosecutor pointed out that the mayor had failed to include a statement, required by law, on his docket or on the transcript. The statement necessary under law is that the mayor feels that the case should be tried in the higher court "in public interest."

Mayor Thurman I. Miller later Thursday said he planned to make the necessary correction and send the case back to common pleas court.

Thieves Take $39 In Cash From Local Laundry

Thieves obtained $39 in cash and and an undetermined amount of clothing Wednesday night in a break-in at Porter's Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. plant, on Route 23 north.

Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff reported that the thieves gained entrance through the rear door of the plant and found the money in a cabinet in the back of the building.

Investigating officers found footprints near the rear entrance which were thought to have been made by juveniles.

The door of the plant was found standing open Thursday morning. The sheriff conceded that the door may have been left unlocked.

Airman Injured In Car Crash Early Thursday

A 21-year-old Air Force corporal stationed at Lockbourne Air Base was critically injured early Thursday when his auto crashed into a guard railing at Little Walnut.

He is Cpl. Albert F. Becker, originally of Brooklyn, who suffered a fractured skull and brain concussion in the mishap.

The accident happened at about 12:30 a. m. Thusday on Route 23 at Little Walnut when Becker's auto went out of control.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards said the auto, travelling north on Route 23, swerved to the left and struck a guard rail. Becker's body was thrown from the auto there, and the man was found lying along the guard rail when help arrived.

The Becker auto knocked down about 25 feet of guard railing on the left side of the road and then, driverless, crashed into the railing on the other side. The auto was demolished.

Cpl. Becker was given emergency treatment in Berger hospital, later was transferred into the Lockbourne Air Force Base hospital.

H-Bomb 'Could Move Earth'

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1—A University of Cincinnati physicist believes that H-bombs, in the event they are successful, could be used to control climate on a planetary scale.

Dr. Alex E. S. Green, assistant professor of physics, told a senior high school group of science pupils that jet action of tremendous thermo-nuclear explosions set off in deep shafts could alter the orbit of the earth relative to the sun. He added:

"With slight modification, this system may also be used to shorten or lengthen the day, to change the seasons or to effect other changes in the solar system."

GIs Assured Of Warm Clothing

Services Prepared For Korea Winter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — The armed services have assured the Senate Preparedness Committee that GIs fighting in Korea will have plenty of Winter clothing if the war continues.

Chairman Johnson, (D) Tex., today made public letters from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines saying that troops will be adequately clothed for Winter fighting.

Johnson said in a statement issued by his Washington office that the services reported ample stocks of clothing are on hand in Korea to last until Jan. 1 and that supplemental shipments on the way will meet needs for the rest of the Winter.

The senator asked about the clothing situation after receiving letters from parents and wives whose sons or husbands in Korea had expressed fears of being scantily clothed for the rigors of war and Korean weather.

* * *

JOHNSON ADDED that the committee "is not content to let this matter drop merely on the basis of reassurance," but will "maintain a continuing check."

The services told Johnson that "temporary shortages may arise unavoidably in forward areas because of transportation difficulties," but that "otherwise all would be adequately supplied."

Army Secretary Pace told Johnson that the Eighth Army has "sent cold weather clothing teams to all units down to the company level fighting in Korea."

He said the Army has developed new cold-weather clothing—a new type of loose-fitting underwear, an improved field jacket with detachable insulated lining, and a new rubber combat boot, completely waterproof and with one-half inch of sealed-in insulation.

Those supplies, Pace said, will reach Korea in time for the coldest months of January and February.

Girl Says She Kills U.S. Officer

PARIS, Nov. 1—French police and counter-espionage officials today investigated a 27-year-old German woman who told a story of killing an unidentified American Amy officer in Germany.

Police expressed doubt about the story of the girl, who claimed that the American officer was engaged in espionage activities in the Soviet zone of Germany but that she killed him recently because of jealousy, not politics.

Danner To Head Ohio Kiwanians

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Harold O. Danner of Madisonville was named governor of the Ohio district of Kiwanis International as the organization ended its 34th annual four-day convention in Columbus.

Dr. Chester W. Duwalt, a Columbiana physician, was elected treasurer, and S. S. Corthell of Akron was reappointed district secretary.

U.S. Postmasters Slated To Get Wage Increases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Postmasters are expected to receive their first pay raises by the middle of this month.

This was the word from a spokesman of the House Postoffice Committee who said the Postoffice Department hopes to have its new payrolls completed by then.

First, second and third class postmasters will receive a pay boost of $400 to $800 a year under the recently enacted postal pay bill. Fourth class postmasters will receive a 20 per cent raise.

All pay raises are retroactive to July 1, 1951. The Postoffice Department is expected to issue separate checks covering the back pay.

All first, second and third class postmasters are assured at least a $400 pay raise. The Postoffice Department will decide what postmasters in these three classifications will receive more than $400.

Congress provided that where a postmaster's subordinates such as supervisor, receive as much or more than he, the Postoffice Department shall grade him so that he receives more.

It was left to the department to decide how much more than $400 a postmaster shall receive. The maximum in any event is $800. This provision does not apply to fourth class postmasters who receive a flat 20 per cent raise.

'Gift' Readied For Vishinsky

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Rep. Amstrong, (R) Mo., left yesterday for Europe bearing a "gift" for Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky.

The "gift' is a map of Russia which the congressman says shows the location of all the slave labor camps in the Soviet Union.

Armstrong's office said the congressman expects to present the map to Vishinsky at the United Nations session in Paris next month.

Armstrong presented a similar map to Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet delegate to the Japanese peace conference. Gromyko handed it to an aide, who threw it away.

City Repaving Program Ends

Circleville's city service department ended its 1951 street surfacing program this week.

Neuding added that some patching will probably be completed later this year "when temperatures permit."

Teen Tips

Did you know—

—Scrubbing your teeth too hard is worse than not brushing them enough? It's the way you brush them, not how hard you do it, that keeps them bright and clean. Brush up and down from the gum to the biting edge with light, gentle strokes. Baking soda is a good tooth whitener. Use several times a week in addition to your usual powder or paste, it helps to put sparkle in your smile.

—Blond hair can be brightened, bringing out its shining, sunny highlights, with a lemon rinse. Strain the juice of a lemon and add it to the last rinse after your shampoo. Brush your hair dry in the sun, if possible.

—Every boy and girl needs to use a deodorant daily. A mild cream to smooth underarms is an effective deodorizer and does not stop perspiration. There are several such creams that are unscented and thus suitable for boys as well as girls (boys perspire as much as girls, usually more). To protect dainty blouses and evening dresses, girls, use an anti-perspirant (liquid of cream) that temporarily checks underarm perspiration, helping to prevent damage to fragile fabrics.

—There's a simple way to cover unattractive pimples, making them less noticeable and encouraging them to heal quickly at the same time—a good thing to know if you have an occasional "bump" or if your skin is often "broken out." There are several reliable medicated lotions, tinted to match the skin, that tone down redness of pimples while helping to heal them. Boys use it on pimples; girls use it on their entire faces, if they like.

(For information about these good-grooming aids, write to Elinor Williams at this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a reply.)

Colonel Given Talk And Fine; Appeals Possible

TOLEDO, Nov. 1—The conviction of Col. Shirley W. McIlwain, former commander of Rossford Ordnance Depot, will automatically be reviewed by two higher authorities.

McIlwain was found guilty on three charges of improper conduct involving large trade-in allowances on his car and acquitted of two other charges by a general court martial yesterday in Toledo federal court.

The military trial lasted nearly eight days with a score of high-ranking officers testifying.

The 11-member court ordered a reprimand and fined McIlwain $1,500 on the ground that his behavior in accepting the trade-in allowances was "wrong and dishonorable."

The court's finding is subject to review by the commanding general of the Second Army who can set aside the verdict or reduce the penalty. The verdict and sentence then will be reviewed by a board of reviews in the judge advocate general's department which also can reduce the penalty or set aside the verdict.

McIlwain then will have the further option of carrying his case to a court of military appeals which consists of three civilian judges.

U.S. GI Dead Totals 16,146

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—The Defense Department's weekly summary of American casualties in Korea shows an increase of 2,595 for last week, bringing the total since the start of the war to 95,592.

The increase, one of the largest since the fighting began, included 458 dead. The Army suffered 2,404 of the casualties recorded for the week.

The new total includes 14,393 killed in action; 68,641 wounded, of whom 1,574 have died; and 12,558 missing, of whom 179 are known to have died. the total of known dead is 16,146.

Norway Denies Red Accusation

OSLO, Nov. 1—Norway has flatly denied a Russian charge that the Arctic outposts of Spitzbergen and Bear Island are being militarized in violation of a 1920 treaty.

The Soviet accusation was made in a note Oct. 15 and linked the alleged rearmament with the North Atlantic defense pact, which the Kremlin regularly charges is aggressive and aimed at Russia.

Turnpike Route Is Given OK By Gov. Lausche

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Governor Lausche has approved the Ohio Turnpike Commission's recommended route for a proposed 241-mile super toll highway across Northern Ohio.

In approving the route late yesterday Lausche overruled objections voiced from Maumee, Berlin Heights, Elyria, Cleveland Metropolitan Park Board, North Royalton, Brecksville, Hudson and other communities in the northern part of the state.

The governor said that if the turnpike, construction of which may begin early next year, were moved southward to the Medina County line as urged by Clevelanders, revenues would be reduced.

Lausche's action paves the way for negotiations for issuing approximately $300 million worth of revenue bonds to finance the project.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy expressed "highest hopes" following Lausche's approval that "it will be possible to begin construction early next year."

Toledo Labor Dispute Ends

TOLEDO, Nov. 1 — Production resumed today at the Electric Auto-Lite Co. in Toledo following settlement of a 12-day strike by the CIO-United Auto Workers union.

Members of the union unanimously accepted the settlement at a mass meeting last night.

Both groups stated they would help speed Wage Stabilization Board approval of wage provisions in a contract negotiated earlier this year. The firm employs some 6,500 workers in five Toledo plants.

NOW THAT members of Congress are back in their own districts and in contact with their constituents, they may obtain additional information concerning the public's attitude toward economy in government.

Their record during the last Congress seems to indicate they have not been in touch with the situation at home, and failed to hear the cries for economy from the overburdened taxpayers.

They will learn the American people are sold on the need for defense and preparation, stripped of waste and extravagance. They may even be complimented on the manner in which Congress stymied Mr. Truman's requests for more money for his over-all spending binge.

But they can hardly misread the public mind, which is dismayed by spending for political purposes and by waste and graft in government. They will learn that the next Congress will be expected to guard the national treasury more carefully. That willy-nilly spending by scores of agencies, many of them unnecessary, should be halted. That the number of civilian employees on the government payroll should be lessened instead of increased.

In short, if their ears are open, they will learn many things which should make them more careful of the public weal.

EYES ON MIDDLE EAST

FOLLOWING seizure of its oil properties in Iran while the socialist government in London fiddled and faddled, Britain has become involved in serious difficulties in Egypt, where the populace, no doubt inspired by communist agitators, demands seizure of the Suez Canal by the Egyptian government and ousting of the foreigners.

Dock workers, as on the East Coast of the United States, are on strike and refuse to load or unload British ships.

As has been pointed out, loss of Iranian oil to Russia would deprive Europe of basic fuel supplies and give the Soviet government an alarming advantage.

Freedom of the Suez Canal is also important to European peace. When Europe loses the canal, that waterway will be well on its way toward control by Russia.

It has become the practice of nations throughout the world to abrogate treaties, to change peaceful relations into disagreements and possible conflict. The socialist government in London was not thrown out soon enough to prevent great damage to the free world as a result of its Marxian policies.

It seems assured this winter will be mild. Fuzz on wooly caterpillars is reported to be as thin as the ice on which Washington grafters are skating is becoming.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I was nearly converted to the "Crusade for Freedom" until I saw their circular "Join the Crusade for Freedom." Then I could not understand why they told a lie.

Let me quote the lie:

"Like the "V" for victory, the world freedom bell has become the symbol of resistance to world tyranny. To the enslaved peoples it means hope. Inscribed on its rim are Abraham Lincoln's words, 'that this world, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom' "

Lincoln never said that. The twisted line is taken from the Gettysburg Address. Lincoln was speaking about Americans killed in war. He was speaking about our honored dead. He was speaking about this nation.

He was not speaking about Germans, Frenchmen, Turks, Greeks or Koreans. He was not speaking about one world or the United Nations. His concern was over his own countrymen.

This is the paragraph which all Americans of my generation were taught in school to recite:

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Now where does this Crusade for Freedom get off twisting the most stirring paragraph of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address into a false meaning?

Lincoln could not have worried about the world having a new birth of freedom, because the whole world has never known anything about freedom. Most of the nations of the world have never experienced freedom. Most of the two billion and more human beings have no conception of what freedom means, and a great part of them even today would fear our concept of freedom. It would terrify them to live in a world where each human being is free to form the pattern of his life.

The people that Lincoln was talking to were Americans who at that time had been on this continent for about 250 years and who had formed a nation dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. His hope was that a nation so dedicated should not perish from the earth. His countrymen were then engaged in a war among themselves over the nature of the American nation. Gettysburg was the scene of a great battle where some of those killed in this war had been buried. Lincoln came to Gettysburg to partake of the ceremonies of consecrating a burial ground for his countrymen.

The Gettysburg Address has generally been regarded as the most perfect example of American oratory. Every word of it is hallowed in American tradition. To twist a sentence of this address, to inscribe it falsely on a bell to celebrate United Nations Day in Berlin is a desecration of an American tradition and a fraud upon the Germans.

Miss Doctor

SYNOPSIS

When highly desirable Dr. Nicholas Cowan asked Dr. Mollie Brooks, his lovely co-worker at Boone Hospital Group, to marry him, she turned him down flat. Too smug to make a good husband she thought. So she centered her interest on the new young red-haired Resident Surgeon, Dr. Peter Shepherd, who had much to learn. When Mollie was suddenly stricken with abdominal pains, Shepherd attended her at Boone. Influenced by the evil whisperings of Clara Wayne, his landlady, Peter unfortunately made certain tests on Mollie, and although these proved negative, they nevertheless gave rise to ugly gossip. Outraged by this indignity, Dr. Cowan decides to teach Shepherd a lesson in professional ethics, one he won't forget.

CHAPTER NINE

NICHOLAS' head was up and back, as he prepared to continue his questioning of Peter; reflectively his brown eyes studied the ceiling. "Do you put great weight in gossip, Doctor? In your consideration of cases for the purpose of diagnosis, I mean."

"No, sir, I don't, but—"

"Did you know this—er—suggestion was gossip? Or fact? Did you try to find out which it was?"

The young doctor was in there fighting, though he was well aware of the odds against him. "I was trying to maintain a properly impersonal attitude, sir. It was difficult, under the circumstances, sir."

"What circumstances were those?"

"The identity of the patient, sir."

"Yes, indeed!" said Nicholas Cowan heartily, and laughter rippled through the room. "But you succeeded in being—impersonal, Doctor?"

"I tried to be, sir. To use a strictly professional approach."

"But hardly a gallant one," drawled Nicholas.

"I tried to consider this patient," reproved Peter, in as fatal a move as he had yet made, "as I would any woman in severe abdominal pain."

"I see! Then you would give these tests to all women, regardless?"

"No, sir, I wouldn't. But—Dr. Cowan, I am extremely sorry that my order has been—er—misinterpreted. I—I admire Dr. B... the patient, sir, and—"

"I am sure of your admiration, Doctor," said Nicholas. "Just as I am convinced of your zeal. Yes. I think zeal is the word."

"May I demur?" asked one of the other doctors.

"You question his zeal?" asked Nicholas, as if shocked.

"No, sir! Zeal he's got! What I question is your questioning his gallantry. Now I figure, Doctor, that any surgeon who gives a pregnancy test to all his women patients is not only gallant, he's downright complimentary!"

"Maybe he gets a better run of patients than you do, Ward," laughed one of the other men.

Young Dr. Shepherd stood there, buffeted by the laughing interchange on which the doctors then engaged. He was in a bad spot, but he deserved all he was getting. Nicholas, his jaw knotted, let the situation get almost out of hand before he demanded attention.

The O.D. rapped for order. "Dr. Cowan has the floor."

Now Nicholas stood up. "I'd like to return the discussion to the matter of Dr. Shepherd's zeal. As one of the older doctors—" Here there was a polite murmur of protest.

"I am older, though," Nicholas insisted. "I've been out of medical school for fifteen years. More. Of course I've tried to keep up since leaving school—" His words and their implications, coming from a Nobel prize winner, finished off young Dr. Shepherd.

"I've even thought of myself," said Dr. Cowan, in a rather puzzled tone, "as being something of a scientist, of having an—er—inquiring mind. But apparently not to the extent that Dr. Shepherd is ready to evidence." He took a few steps away from his chair, walked back. "Laboratory tests," he said thoughtfully. Then his head snapped up. "But are these young doctors aware that patients have lives and interests and sensibilities which cannot be injected into a mouse or made into a tissue slide?

"Did anyone ever tell Dr. Shepherd that he could become so impersonal as to be of no practical use as a diagnostician? That he could come to the point where he would look upon a bone and refuse to say it was a bone until he had put the thing to a proper chemical test?

"And then there is the matter of a layman's diagnosis. Can one distinguish gossip from factual evidence, and in any case, how do these young doctors reconcile using that approach with the strictly impersonal attitude? I think we older men all can cite instances where the layman's opinion could have been—or should have been—discarded." He dropped the last word delicately, and a half-dozen of the doctors rose like trout to the lure.

They churned the water in their eagerness to cite examples of the risks run by young doctors uninstructed in the dangers of overzealousness. Cleansing laughter swept the room in waves, and Mollie's case lay beached, a joke upon this particular young doctor, an amusing story which would be told reminiscently at medical gatherings—and no more. Peter would always be the center of the story now, Mollie's identity of little importance.

Nicholas sat down, and seemed again to be his usual imperturbable self.

Peter was the first to regret his bungling of the case. To regret all of it, his zeal particularly. He stood at the door and waylaid Nicholas as he came through.

"Yes?" said Nicholas, fully restored to his usual manner of preoccupation.

"I just wanted to say, Doctor, that I'm sorry all this came up. I feel I owe you an apology."

Nicholas was annoyed, and he showed it. "I think we need not speak of the matter," he said coldly.

"No, sir, I guess not. But I do, really, admire Dr. Brooks—"

"Of course," said Nicholas, walking away from Dr. Shepherd.

The story about Peter Shepherd's eager-beaver diagnosis would stay with them, but the Staff doctors at the meeting considered that the really important event had been the attendance of Nicholas Cowan at a Staff meeting, at any Staff meeting. It was an honor to have him on the Group Staff, but if he could be coaxed or flattered into activity—

"It was wonderful to have you at the meeting, Doctor," said this one and that.

"Yes, it was, wasn't it?" Nicholas answered dryly.

"You must come again, Nicholas," said the Chief Surgeon.

"Not likely!" said Nicholas.

He went home without going again to see Mollie. Developments would present themselves to her. He hoped the thing would rest right where he had deposited it, as a good joke on young Shepherd.

* * *

The throat-cutting intern had been mistaken. Residents are reprimanded for overzealousness; they are not dismissed.

Peter was young and eager enough to rebound quickly from the Chief Surgeon's dressing down. His conscience troubled him considerably, however, and he felt that he owed someone an apology. Shying away from another attempt with Nicholas, he determined to call upon Mollie and express his regrets.

She was at home this evening and had told Hazel that there was no need for her to stay; she was perfectly all right, planned to go to her office the next day.

When the door chime sounded at eight-thirty, Mollie went to answer, fully expecting to greet Nicholas. She drew back, visibly astonished to see Peter Shepherd at her door.

Newly barbered, his brown suit brushed and pressed within an inch of its life, the young man's face was flushed with his earnest wish to amend past mistakes. "I'm Dr. Shepherd," he said naively. "May I come in?"

Mollie nodded. "Of course," she said faintly. She turned and preceded him down the steps into the main room. She indicated the striped armchair, resumed her place in the corner of the couch.

"An open fire!" said Dr. Shephard with pleasure, seating himself. Instantly he leaned toward Mollie, embarked upon his apology. She watched him warily; this young man could take a bit of watching.

But his naivete was engaging, the earnestness with which he spoke, the honesty. Mollie stroked the folds of her white housecoat and kept her eyes upon her hand, lest she be unduly charmed by this young man's brown eyes, his boyish face.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

We began a new era of taxation today. We know it's a new era because this time nobody in Washington even said "this is going to hurt a little."

The period which ended yesterday might roughly be described as "from taxation without representation to taxation without repercussion."

But some were fortunate. New York milk drivers got a $12-a-week increase just in time to meet the new taxes set to halt inflation caused by higher prices resulting from $12-a-week increases to meet tax rates set to halt inflation caused by higher prices etc.

The price of milk went up again, but consumers can apply to their bosses for wage increases which will result in a higher price for the product they produce which will put the milk drivers back where they were in which case they can put in for another wage boost. See how easy it works out?

Anyway we have Mr. Truman's word for it that the whole mess is due to "the special interests."

"The special interests" are the people who invent, invest in and market the products that keep the non-special interests working.

Volcanoes may lie dormant for hundreds of years and then break out with great violence.

Something should be done about banquet chairmen who keep guest speakers waiting until the audience begins going home. Hilaire Belloc, the English writer, once took the bull by the horns. Finally called to the podium by the bore in charge of proceedings, Mr. Belloc announced, "I have been asked at long last to give my address. It is Kings' Land Road, Shipley. I should have been there two hours ago, and I am going there immediately. Good night."

McPherson's son confessed sadly to his dad that in a moment of madness he not only had loaned five pounts to a friend, but had neglected to secure a signed promissory note. "Now I kinna collect," he mourned. McPherson, Senior, was equal to the emergency. "Write and tell him you need the ten pounds at once," he ordered. "When he replies that he only owes you five, you'll have it in writing."

Renoir, famous for the wonderfully natural flesh tints on his series of nudes, was asked how he achieved such spectacular results. The French painted shrugged his shoulders and said, "I keep struggling with the canvas until I feel like pinching. Then I know it's right."

Government Corruption New GOP Battle Cry | 'Reds in High Places' Blast Takes Back Seat

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—"Corruption in the Truman administration" seems to be the new Republican tagline for the 1952 campaign, replacing to some extent at least the earlier emphasis on "Communists in government."

Party leaders apparently feel that in these days of high taxes the public is more interested in squawks about official till-dipping than over the less concrete issue of Communist influence on foreign policy.

Some Republicans point out that the corruption tack has the advantage of using ammunition provided in investigations conducted by Democrats themselves.

The Communist issue raises the whole issue of Senator Joseph McCarthy (R), Wisconsin, and his tactics—a matter on which the Republicans are split among themselves.

Senator George D. Aiken

Voters can expect to hear a swelling chorus of "Throw the rascals out" as election time nears. However, the other issues will not be dropped. Communism in government, the MacArthur firing, government spending and the conduct of foreign affairs, all will come in for a share of GOP campaign attention.

* * * *

● PARTY RESHUFFLE—Vermont's canny GOP Senator George D. Aiken says the country is building up to vast changes in the political party system, with one faction representing the White House and increasing executive authority and the other representing Congress.

Aiken claims the movement has been underway, slowly but surely, for many years and that it took on new steam when Franklin D. Roosevelt entered the White House.

Aiken agrees with those who see no great difference in the Democratic and Republican parties. He contends there is much greater divergence between the White House and the congressional factions, which cuts across lines of the traditional parties.

The Vermonter says that if the trend continues at its present pace the day may come when the White House party may be recognized as the official advocate of absolute authority for the executive agencies.

On the other hand, Aiken believes the Congress party—which he says currently is largely the party of the opposition—may be formally tagged as the organization dedicated to maintaining the largest possible measure of states' rights.

* * * *

● VARIED INTERESTS—The Senate's select committee on small business may not be adept at hitting the headlines but it has certainly developed a facility for sticking its fingers into all sorts of pies.

For example, the unit looked into the threatened shortage of fresh foods in Alaska. It pinned the blame on the Civil Aeronautics Board for putting a non-scheduled airline which served the territory out of business. CAB claimed the non-sked was flying too often while a scheduled line in the area had cut down on its service.

In a survey of the newsprint shortage, the committee received cooperation from an unexpected source.

It mailed out letters to weekly newspapers throughout the country in an effort to find out how they were faring. One letter returned undelivered was stamped by the local postmaster: "Paper gone out of business—no newsprint."

* * * *

● SIGNS OF THE TIMES—A congressional source who bears no love for bureaucrats reports a satiric note developing in the mottoes publicly displayed in some executive department agencies and offices.

Among others, he claims to have observed the following:

Slogans That Sting

1—On the desk of a National Production Authority employe, a sign reading: "It takes a real bureaucrat to develop chaos out of confusion."

2—In a Veterans Administration office, a sign with these words: "Why be difficult when with a little practice you can be impossible?"

3—In the Pentagon, a surreptitiously circulated document bearing the warning: "This document is classified, DBR (Destroy Before Reading)."

The source, with his own touch of satire, suggested this slogan for bureaucracy in general: "Damn the taxpayers! Full spend ahead!"

BEER CANS ON WAY OUT?

U.S. Tin Supply Skimpy, Federal Chiefs Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—The government is prepared to cut back beer can production and undertake other conservation measures to offset the serious loss of Bolivian tin shipments to the U. S.

National Production Authority officials disclosed new regulations curbing domestic tin manufacturing are "under consideration" and may be issued shortly unless a deal is worked out with Bolivia.

Government experts made the statement in explaining the effects of the collapse of RFC negotiations last week with the South American country for resumption of tin shipments to this country.

The discussions on the arrangement of a long-term tin contract hit a snag when Bolivia insisted the U. S. pay $1.50 a pound for tin. RFC said it would pay no more than $1.12.

* * *

THIS COUNTRY normally obtains half ot its tin supply from Bolivia and except for a token 30-day shipment recently, tin supplies have been suspended since last Spring.

While the government maintains a tin supply in the strategic stockpile and in RFC reserves, the total amount in this country has been dwindling under increased demands from industry.

NPA has classified tin as one of 12 metals that are "most critical" on the shortage list and in a recent report has said: "The suspension of tin purchases due to excessive prices has resulted in considerable reduction in tin's industrial stocks."

NPA officials conceded that the situation is "not good" but they added that the government's position is to "hold the line, hoping something will break."

Meanwhile, the agency is studying ways and means of restricting tin consumption if negotiations are not resumed and a contract is not settled.

Tin supplies generally have been reduced ten per cent below the amounts used during the first six months of 1950. This may be tightened shortly.

Moreover, NPA recently announced a production program that would allow manufacturers to produce more tin cans in the 12 months starting last Oct. 1 than in any other similar period.

This plan gave more cans to food processors, but containers for beer and other less essential products were cut 30 per cent.

Officials indicated the brunt of any new controls would hit products in this latter catebory but they said the government is not ready yet to say how far it will go.

A "monkey fist," in the language of sailors, is a heavy knot placed on the end of a heaving line to give it weight.

Ohio Machinist Gets Recognition

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—The state education department has announced that William A. Navojosky, a machinist apprentice from Salem, will represent Ohio at the 56th annual Congress of American Industry.

The congress, to be held in New York in December, is sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers. An apprentice from each region of the NAM is to get a one week expense-free trip to the congress.

Wife-Killer Nabbed While Opening Oysters

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1—Morely Vernon King, alleged wife-killer and one of the nation's ten "most wanted criminals," was arrested by FBI men last night as he was opening oysters as a restaurant chef.

King, 50, offered no resistance to the FBI men who had swarmed into the kitchen of the Germantown restaurant. He dropped his oyster knife and said, "I wondered when the FBI would get me."

He will be given a hearing today before U.S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr in Philadelphia.

He had been hunted for the trunk murder of his wife, Helen, at San Luis Obispo, Cal., in July 9, 1947.

King, who had used the name of William Cobel Wilson, had been hired only three weeks before by Nicholas Montagna, owner of the restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Montagna, 35, appeared shaken by the arrest of his second cook, saying, "you wouldn't think there was anything bad about him. He was a real pleasant guy who always took my orders."

Farmer Now Has $4.75 In Cash For Every Dollar Held In '40

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—A government farm finance expert indicates that farmers have been holding about $4.75 in cash and savings this year for every dollar they had in 1940.

Roy J. Burroughs, of the Agriculture Department finance division, told an outlook conference in Washington that this ready money could pay off all farm debts and still leave a balance of nearly $7 billion.

In 1940 it was a different story, he said. The debts then amounted to almost $2.50 for every dollar in the bank or in cash.

How much good do these available dollars do the American farmer?

Inflation complicates the answer. The farmer can buy more than he could in 1940, but he can't buy as much as the dollar increase shows.

Despite the big gains in cash and savings, such money will buy only a little more than twice as much as it would in prewar days.

* * *

SIMILARLY, farmers netted about three times as much last year than they did in 1940, but they could buy only one and a half times as much in goods.

Farmers now can buy from one and a half to two times as much with today's income, cash and savings than they could with what they had eleven years ago.

There's another bright side to the picture A farmer's biggest assets are such things as land, buildings, livestock and machinery. And these are not included in the estimate of cash and savings.

Another important thing tempers the farm finance picture. The cash and savings and net income figures lump all farmers together, although every farmer knows of others in dire poverty or with considerable wealth.

For example, a fairly recent survey by private and government researchers in Virginia showed that about two per cent of all farm operators in that state had net worths of less than $500 while about three per cent were worth $50,000 or more.

Pickaway Gets $3,900 Share Of Liquor Fees

Pickaway County Wednesday received $3,900 as part of the quarterly permit fee distribution from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

According to William C. Bryant, director of the liquor department, the fees were distributed to local political sub-divisions for the quarter ending Sept. 15. Fees are collected on each permit issued or renewed by the Department for the manufacture, distribution, and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Each fee is returned to the local political sub-division where the permit premise is located.

"Primary responsibility for enforcing liquor laws and regulations rests with local law enforcement officers. The statutes contemplated that this money should be used for this purpose," Bryant explained.

A total of $1,831,419.78 was distributed to political sub-divisions in Ohio.

GIs Assured Of Warm Clothing

Services Prepared For Korea Winter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — The armed services have assured the Senate Preparedness Committee that GIs fighting in Korea will have plenty of Winter clothing if the war continues.

Chairman Johnson, (D) Tex., today made public letters from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines saying that troops will be adequately clothed for Winter fighting.

Johnson said in a statement issued by his Washington office that the services reported ample stocks of clothing are on hand in Korea to last until Jan. 1 and that supplemental shipments on the way will meet needs for the rest of the Winter.

The senator asked about the clothing situation after receiving letters from parents and wives whose sons or husbands in Korea had expressed fears of being scantily clothed for the rigors of war and Korean weather.

* * *

JOHNSON ADDED that the committee "is not content to let this matter drop merely on the basis of reassurance," but will "maintain a continuing check."

The services told Johnson that "temporary shortages may arise unavoidably in forward areas because of transportation difficulties," but that "otherwise all would be adequately supplied."

Army Secretary Pace told Johnson that the Eighth Army has "sent cold weather clothing teams to all units down to the company level fighting in Korea."

He said the Army has developed new cold-weather clothing—a new type of loose-fitting underwear, an improved field jacket with detachable insulated lining, and a new rubber combat boot, completely waterproof and with one-half inch of sealed-in insulation.

These supplies, Pace said, will reach Korea in time for the coldest months of January and February.

Girl Says She Kills U.S. Officer

PARIS, Nov. 1—French police and counter-espionage officials today investigated a 27-year-old German woman who told a story of killing an unidentified American Amy officer in Germany.

Police expressed doubt about the story of the girl, who claimed that the American officer was engaged in espionage activities in the Soviet zone of Germany but that she killed him recently because of jealousy, not politics.

Danner To Head Ohio Kiwanians

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Harold O. Danner of Madisonville was named governor of the Ohio district of Kiwanis International as the organization ended its 34th annual four-day convention in Columbus.

Dr. Chester W. Duwalt, a Columbiana physician, was elected treasurer, and S. S. Corthell of Akron was reappointed district secretary.

U.S. Postmasters Slated To Get Wage Increases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Postmasters are expected to receive their first pay raises by the middle of this month.

This was the word from a spokesman of the House Postoffice Committee who said the Postoffice Department hopes to have its new payrolls completed by then.

First, second and third class postmasters will receive a pay boost of $400 to $800 a year under the recently enacted postal pay bill. Fourth class postmasters will receive a 20 per cent raise.

All pay raises are retroactive to July 1, 1951. The Postoffice Department is expected to issue separate checks covering the back pay.

All first, second and third class postmasters are assured at least a $400 pay raise. The Postoffice Department will decide what postmasters in these three classifications will receive more than $400.

Congress provided that where a postmaster's subordinates such as supervisor, receive as much or more than he, the Postoffice Department shall grade him so that he receives more.

It was left to the department to decide how much more than $400 a postmaster shall receive. The maximum in any event is $800. This provision does not apply to fourth class postmasters who receive a flat 20 per cent raise.

'Gift' Readied For Vishinsky

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Rep. Amstrong, (R) Mo., left yesterday for Europe bearing a "gift" for Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky.

The "gift' is a map of Russia which the congressman says shows the location of all the slave labor camps in the Soviet Union.

Armstrong's office said the congressman expects to present the map to Vishinsky at the United Nations session in Paris next month.

Armstrong presented a similar map to Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet delegate to the Japanese peace conference. Gromyko handed it to an aide, who threw it away.

3 Lucas County Joints Closed

TOLEDO, Nov. 1 — Three Lucas County gambling establishments were closed today under orders of Common Pleas Judge John M. McCabe.

Judge McCabe, acting under a request by County Prosecutor Joel Rhinefort on the eve of a grand jury investigation into county gambling, issued a temporary injunction ordering the places padlocked. Named were Webster Inn, Dixie Inn and Victory Club.

City Repaving Program Ends

Circleville's city service department ended its 1951 street surfacing program this week.

John Neuding, city service director, said his men finished up this year's paving program Wednesday by a surface treatment of the Springhollow Road.

Neuding added that some patching will probably be completed later this year "when temperatures permit."

Teen Tips

Did you know—

—Scrubbing your teeth too hard is worse than not brushing them enough? It's the way you brush them, not how hard you do it, that keeps them bright and clean. Brush up and down from the gum to the biting edge with light, gentle strokes. Baking soda is a good tooth whitener. Use several times a week in addition to your usual powder or paste, it helps to put sparkle in your smile.

—Blond hair can be brightened, bringing out its shining, sunny highlights, with a lemon rinse. Strain the juice of a lemon and add it to the last rinse after your shampoo. Brush your hair dry in the sun, if possible.

—Every boy and girl needs to use a deodorant daily. A mild cream to smooth underarms is an effective deodorizer and does not stop perspiration. There are several such creams that are unscented and thus suitable for boys as well as girls (boys perspire as much as girls, usually more). To protect dainty blouses and evening dresses, girls, use an anti-perspirant (liquid of cream) that temporarily checks underarm perspiration, helping to prevent damage to fragile fabrics.

—There's a simple way to cover unattractive pimples, making them less noticeable and encouraging them to heal quickly at the same time—a good thing to know if you have an occasional "bump" or if your skin is often "broken out." There are several reliable medicated lotions, tinted to match the skin, that tone down redness of pimples while helping to heal them. Boys use it on pimples; girls use it on their entire faces, if they like.

(For information about these good-grooming aids, write to Elinor Williams at this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a reply.)

Colonel Given Talk And Fine; Appeals Possible

TOLEDO, Nov. 1—The conviction of Col. Shirley W. McIlwain, former commander of Rossford Ordnance Depot, will automatically be reviewed by two higher authorities.

McIlwain was found guilty on three charges of improper conduct involving large trade-in allowances on his car and acquitted of two other charges by a general court martial yesterday in Toledo federal court.

The military trial lasted nearly eight days with a score of high-ranking officers testifying.

The 11-member court ordered a reprimand and fined McIlwain $1,500 on the ground that his behavior in accepting the trade-in allowances was "wrong and dishonorable."

The court's finding is subject to review by the commanding general of the Second Army who can set aside the verdict or reduce the penalty. The verdict and sentence then will be reviewed by a board of reviews in the judge advocate general's department which also can reduce the penalty or set aside the verdict.

McIlwain then will have the further option of carrying his case to a court of military appeals which consists of three civilian judges.

U.S. GI Dead Totals 16,146

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—The Defense Department's weekly summary of American casualties in Korea shows an increase of 2,595 for last week, bringing the total since the start of the war to 95,592.

The increase, one of the largest since the fighting began, included 458 dead. The Army suffered 2,404 of the casualties recorded for the week.

The new total includes 14,393 killed in action; 68,641 wounded, of whom 1,574 have died; and 12,558 missing, of whom 179 are known to have died. the total of known dead is 16,146.

Norway Denies Red Accusation

OSLO, Nov. 1—Norway has flatly denied a Russian charge that the Arctic outposts of Spitzbergen and Bear Island are being militarized in violation of a 1920 treaty.

The Soviet accusation was made in a note Oct. 15 and linked the alleged rearmament with the North Atlantic defense pact, which the Kremlin regularly charges is aggressive and aimed at Russia.

Turnpike Route Is Given OK By Gov. Lausche

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Governor Lausche has approved the Ohio Turnpike Commission's recommended route for a proposed 241-mile super toll highway across Northern Ohio.

In approving the route late yesterday Lausche overruled objections voiced from Maumee, Berlin Heights, Elyria, Cleveland Metropolitan Park Board, North Royalton, Brecksville, Hudson and other communities in the northern part of the state.

The governor said that if the turnpike, construction of which may begin early next year, were moved southward to the Medina County line as urged by Clevelanders, revenues would be reduced.

Lausche's action paves the way for negotiations for issuing approximately $300 million worth of revenue bonds to finance the project.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy expressed "highest hopes" following Lausche's approval that "it will be possible to begin construction early next year."

Toledo Labor Dispute Ends

TOLEDO, Nov. 1 — Production resumed today at the Electric Auto-Lite Co. in Toledo following settlement of a 12-day strike by the CIO-United Auto Workers union.

Members of the union unanimously accepted the settlement at a mass meeting last night.

Both groups stated they would help speed Wage Stabilization Board approval of wage provisions in a contract negotiated earlier this year. The firm employs some 6,500 workers in five Toledo plants.

Animal Injuries Expected

Winter Quarters To Bring Danger

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Livestock owners were alerted to the dangers of animal injuries in the weeks just ahead in a special bulletin today from the American Foundation for Animal Health.

With the coming of colder weather, there's more chance for injury as livestock is brought off the ranges and pastures into closer confines of Winter quarters, foundation authorities pointed out.

"Typical of these injuries are horn wounds, bruises, cuts and scratches from nails, barb wire and other sharp objects," the report said, adding:

"Also, during cold weather there's danger that livestock will stumble over frozen objects and icy spots, sometimes bringing injury or bruised feet."

Livestock owners whose animals suffer wounds were urged to take the following precautions:

* * *

(1) IF THE WOUND is bleeding excessively, pressure should be applied to the affected area with sterile gauze.

(2) If the bleeding continues, a tourniquet may be needed also.

(3) Before examining a wound, the owner's hands should always be washed to reduce chance of infection.

(4) Strong antiseptics which may aggravate the injury should never be used.

(5) Animals with serious wounds should be placed under a veterinarian's care. In these cases, the attending veterinarian may need to give treatment to prevent tetanus, and sometimes internal medication to prevent complicating infections.

Spiders are never caught in their own webs.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — Attorney General C. William O'Neill reported today that all cases cited before the state liquor board are current for the first time in the liquor department's history.

Firm Chief Says Drivers Disobey

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Benjamin Fine, manager of Dworkin, Inc., a Cleveland trucking firm, says that company drivers disobeyed orders in not having their loads checked.

Testifying before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, which has the company under citation for "overloads," Fine said trucks were not checked as to proper weight because they left the Cleveland headquarters at late periods.

The manager also noted that the company uses mainly its own trucks and drivers and that there would be no incentive on the part of the operators to overload their trucks.

Insurance Case Is Decided By Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — In an Ashland County case, the Ohio Supreme Court has affirmed the lower courts in holding that the American Casualty Co. of Reading, Pa., did not have to pay on an auto accident policy once held by Leroy Kelly.

Faye Gibbons recovered a judgment of $10,000 against Kelly as a result of an accident March 19, 1949. When Kelly did not pay, Gibbons filed a supplementary suit against the insurance company.

The company contended, however, that it had served notice of cancellation of Kelly's policy prior to the accident.

The insurance agent, instead of returning the unused premiums to Kelly, used them to apply to Kelly's other insurance charges. Since he did not receive a rebate, Kelly contended that his policy was still in force.

The supreme court held, however, that the policy was effectively cancelled the previous September, and that the company could not be held responsible.

U.S. 'Know-How' Needed Abroad

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Sen. Smith, (R) N.J., said today the U.S. must supply "know-how" instead of "endless handouts" to help other nations.

Speaking at the National Foreign Trade Convention, Smith said that U.S. should become the leader in developing international trade and helping other countries increase their production efficiency. Smith declared:

"The world does not want our bounty and we cannot afford endless free handouts. One thing we have in abundance is the 'know-how' to produce. We can afford to give this away if it will help those other areas to help themselves."

MAY GET AN EARFUL

NOW THAT members of Congress are back in their own districts and in contact with their constituents, they may obtain additional information concerning the public's attitude toward economy in government.

Their record during the last Congress seems to indicate they have not been in touch with the situation at home, and failed to hear the cries for economy from the overburdened taxpayers.

They will learn the American people are sold on the need for defense and preparation, stripped of waste and extravagance. They may even be complimented on the manner in which Congress stymied Mr. Truman's requests for more money for his over-all spending binge.

But they can hardly misread the public mind, which is dismayed by spending for political purposes and by waste and graft in government. They will learn that the next Congress will be expected to guard the national treasury more carefully. That willy-nilly spending by scores of agencies, many of them unnecessary, should be halted. That the number of civilian employees on the government payroll should be lessened instead of increased.

In short, if their ears are open, they will learn many things which should make them more careful of the public weal.

EYES ON MIDDLE EAST

FOLLOWING seizure of its oil properties in Iran while the socialist government in London fiddled and faddled, Britain has become involved in serious difficulties in Egypt, where the populace, no doubt inspired by communist agitators, demands seizure of the Suez Canal by the Egyptian government and ousting of the foreigners.

Dock workers, as on the East Coast of the United States, are on strike and refuse to load or unload British ships.

As has been pointed out, loss of Iranian oil to Russia would deprive Europe of basic fuel supplies and give the Soviet government an alarming advantage.

Freedom of the Suez Canal is also important to European peace. When Europe loses the canal, that waterway will be well on its way toward control by Russia.

It has become the practice of nations throughout the world to abrogate treaties, to change peaceful relations into disagreements and possible conflict. The socialist government in London was not thrown out soon enough to prevent great damage to the free world as a result of its Marxian policies.

It seems assured this winter will be mild. Fuzz on wooly caterpillars is reported to be as thin as the ice on which Washington grafters are skating is becoming.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I was nearly converted to the "Crusade for Freedom" until I saw their circular "Join the Crusade for Freedom." Then I could not understand why they told a lie.

Let me quote the lie:

"Like the "V" for victory, the world freedom bell has become the symbol of resistance to world tyranny. To the enslaved peoples it means hope. Inscribed on its rim are Abraham Lincoln's words, 'that this world, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom' "

Lincoln never said that. The twisted line is taken from the Gettysburg Address. Lincoln was speaking about Americans killed in war. He was speaking about our honored dead. He was speaking about this nation.

He was not speaking about Germans, Frenchmen, Turks, Greeks or Koreans. He was not speaking about one world or the United Nations. His concern was over his own countrymen.

This is the paragraph which all Americans of my generation were taught in school to recite:

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Now where does this Crusade for Freedom get off twisting the most stirring paragraph of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address into a false meaning?

Lincoln could not have worried about the world having a new birth of freedom, because the whole world has never known anything about freedom. Most of the nations of the world have never experienced freedom. Most of the two billion and more human beings have no conception of what freedom means, and a great part of them even today would fear our concept of freedom. It would terrify them to live in a world where each human being is free to form the pattern of his life.

The people that Lincoln was talking to were Americans who at that time had been on this continent for about 250 years and who had formed a nation dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. His hope was that a nation so dedicated should not perish from the earth. His countrymen were then engaged in a war among themselves over the nature of the American nation. Gettysburg was the scene of a great battle where some of those killed in this war had been buried. Lincoln came to Gettysburg to partake of the ceremonies of consecrating a burial ground for his countrymen.

The Gettysburg Address has generally been regarded as the most perfect example of American oratory. Every word of it is hallowed in American tradition. To twist a sentence of this address, to inscribe it falsely on a bell to celebrate United Nations Day in Berlin is a desecration of an American tradition and a fraud upon the Germans.

Every little rabbit has summoned courage to spit in the bulldog's face, is the way one writer describes the shenanigans of Iran, Egypt, Iraq, etc. But the results of the British elections may cause some of them to hesitate before taking next step.

Miss Doctor

by Elizabeth Seifert

Copyright, 1951, by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

SYNOPSIS

When highly desirable Dr. Nicholas Cowan asked Dr. Mollie Brooks, his lovely co-worker at Boone Hospital Group, to marry him, she turned him down flat. Too smug to make a good husband she thought. So she centered her interest on the new young red-haired Resident Surgeon, Dr. Peter Shepherd, who had much to learn. When Mollie was suddenly stricken with abdominal pains, Shepherd attended her at Boone. Influenced by the evil whisperings of Clara Wayne, his landlady, Peter unfortunately made certain tests on Mollie, and although these proved negative, they nevertheless gave rise to ugly gossip. Outraged by this indignity, Dr. Cowan decides to teach Shepherd a lesson in professional ethics, one he won't forget.

CHAPTER NINE

NICHOLAS' head was up and back, as he prepared to continue his questioning of Peter; reflectively his brown eyes studied the ceiling. "Do you put great weight in gossip, Doctor? In your consideration of cases for the purpose of diagnosis, I mean."

"No, sir, I don't, but—"

"Did you know this—er—suggestion was gossip? Or fact? Did you try to find out which it was?"

The young doctor was in there fighting, though he was well aware of the odds against him. "I was trying to maintain a properly impersonal attitude, sir. It was difficult, under the circumstances, sir."

"What circumstances were those?"

"The identity of the patient, sir."

"Yes, indeed!" said Nicholas Cowan heartily, and laughter rippled through the room. "But you succeeded in being—impersonal, Doctor?"

"I tried to be, sir. To use a strictly professional approach."

"But hardly a gallant one," drawled Nicholas.

"I tried to consider this patient," reproved Peter, in as fatal a move as he had yet made, "as I would any woman in severe abdominal pain."

"I see! Then you would give these tests to all women, regardless?"

"No, sir, I wouldn't. But—Dr. Cowan, I am extremely sorry that my order has been—er—misinterpreted. I—I admire Dr. B... the patient, sir, and—"

"I am sure of your admiration, Doctor," said Nicholas. "Just as I am convinced of your zeal. Yes. I think zeal is the word."

"May I demur?" asked one of the other doctors.

"You question his zeal?" asked Nicholas, as if shocked.

"No, sir! Zeal he's got! What I question is your questioning his gallantry. Now I figure, Doctor, that any surgeon who gives a pregnancy test to all his women patients is not only gallant, he's downright complimentary!"

"Maybe he gets a better run of patients than you do, Ward," laughed one of the other men.

Young Dr. Shepherd stood there, buffeted by the laughing interchange on which the doctors then engaged. He was in a bad spot, but he deserved all he was getting. Nicholas, his jaw knotted, let the situation get almost out of hand before he demanded attention.

The O.D. rapped for order. "Dr. Cowan has the floor."

Now Nicholas stood up. "I'd like to return the discussion to the matter of Dr. Shepherd's zeal. As one of the older doctors—" Here there was a polite murmur of protest.

"I am older, though," Nicholas insisted. "I've been out of medical school for fifteen years. More. Of course I've tried to keep up since leaving school—" His words and their implications, coming from a Nobel prize winner, finished off young Dr. Shepherd.

"I've even thought of myself," said Dr. Cowan, in a rather puzzled tone, "as being something of a scientist, of having an—er—inquiring mind. But apparently not to the extent that Dr. Shepherd is ready to evidence." He took a few steps away from his chair, walked back. "Laboratory tests," he said thoughtfully. Then his head snapped up. "But are these young doctors aware that patients have lives and interests and sensibilities which cannot be injected into a mouse or made into a tissue slide?

"Did anyone ever tell Dr. Shepherd that he could become so impersonal as to be of no practical use as a diagnostician? That he could come to the point where he would look upon a bone and refuse to say it was a bone until he had put the thing to a proper chemical test?

"And then there is the matter of a layman's diagnosis. Can one distinguish gossip from factual evidence, and in any case, how do these young doctors reconcile using that approach with the strictly impersonal attitude? I think we older men all can cite instances where the layman's opinion could have been—or should have been—discarded." He dropped the last word delicately, and a half-dozen of the doctors rose like trout to the lure.

They churned the water in their eagerness to cite examples of the risks run by young doctors uninstructed in the dangers of overzealousness. Cleansing laughter swept the room in waves, and Mollie's case lay beached, a joke upon this particular young doctor, an amusing story which would be told reminiscently at medical gatherings—and no more. Peter would always be the center of the story now, Mollie's identity of little importance.

Nicholas sat down, and seemed again to be his usual imperturbable self.

Peter was the first to regret his bungling of the case. To regret all of it, his zeal particularly. He stood at the door and waylaid Nicholas as he came through.

"Yes?" said Nicholas, fully restored to his usual manner of preoccupation.

"I just wanted to say, Doctor, that I'm sorry all this came up. I feel I owe you an apology."

Nicholas was annoyed, and he showed it. "I think we need not speak of the matter," he said coldly.

"No, sir, I guess not. But I do, really, admire Dr. Brooks—"

"Of course," said Nicholas, walking away from Dr. Shepherd.

The story about Peter Shepherd's eager-beaver diagnosis would stay with them, but the Staff doctors at the meeting considered that the really important event had been the attendance of Nicholas Cowan at a Staff meeting, at any Staff meeting. It was an honor to have him on the Group Staff, but if he could be coaxed or flattered into activity—

"It was wonderful to have you at the meeting, Doctor," said this one and that.

"Yes, it was, wasn't it?" Nicholas answered dryly.

"You must come again, Nicholas," said the Chief Surgeon.

"Not likely!" said Nicholas.

He went home without going again to see Mollie. Developments would present themselves to her. He hoped the thing would rest right where he had deposited it, as a good joke on young Shepherd.

* * *

The throat-cutting intern had been mistaken. Residents are reprimanded for overzealousness; they are not dismissed.

Peter was young and eager enough to rebound quickly from the Chief Surgeon's dressing down. His conscience troubled him considerably, however, and he felt that he owed someone an apology. Shying away from another attempt with Nicholas, he determined to call upon Mollie and express his regrets.

She was at home this evening and had told Hazel that there was no need for her to stay; she was perfectly all right, planned to go to her office the next day.

When the door chime sounded at eight-thirty, Mollie went to answer, fully expecting to greet Nicholas. She drew back, visibly astonished to see Peter Shepherd at her door.

Newly barbered, his brown suit brushed and pressed within an inch of its life, the young man's face was flushed with his earnest wish to amend past mistakes. "I'm Dr. Shepherd," he said naively. "May I come in?"

Mollie nodded. "Of course," she said faintly. She turned and preceded him down the steps into the main room. She indicated the striped armchair, resumed her place in the corner of the couch.

"An open fire!" said Dr. Shephard with pleasure, seating himself. Instantly he leaned toward Mollie, embarked upon his apology. She watched him warily; this young man could take a bit of watching.

But his naivete was engaging, the earnestness with which he spoke, the honesty. Mollie stroked the folds of her white housecoat and kept her eyes upon her hand, lest she be unduly charmed by this young man's brown eyes, his boyish face.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

We began a new era of taxation today. We know it's a new era because this time nobody in Washington even said "this is going to hurt a little."

The period which ended yesterday might roughly be described as "from taxation without representation to taxation without repercussion."

But some were fortunate. New York milk drivers got a $12-a-week increase just in time to meet the new taxes set to halt inflation caused by higher prices resulting from $12-a-week increases to meet tax rates set to halt inflation caused by higher prices etc.

The price of milk went up again, but consumers can apply to their bosses for wage increases which will result in a higher price for the product they produce which will put the milk drivers back where they were in which case they can put in for another wage boost. See how easy it works out?

Anyway we have Mr. Truman's word for it that the whole mess is due to "the special interests."

"The special interests" are the people who invent, invest in and market the products that keep the non-special interests working.

Volcanoes may lie dormant for hundreds of years and then break out with great violence.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Halloween pranksters placed a horse in the auditorium of Scioto Township school at Commercial Point, Wednesday night.

After a separation of 41 years, Geraldi LeFountain, 93-year-old Sioux Indian, arrived in Circleville Wednesday morning by mule horse and spring wagon, for a visit with his sister, Mrs. William Wilson, near Amanda.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson entertained with a Halloween party in the barn at their Saltcreek Township home.

TEN YEARS AGO

Beginning Nov. 1, milk will be increased in price to 12c a quart in Circleville.

Mrs. N. L. Cochran entertained yesterday with a Halloween party in honor of her daughters.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Invitations have been sent by Mrs. Earl Lutz, Mrs. Loren Lutz, Mrs. D. Adrian Yates and Miss Bernadine Yates to a series of card parties to be held in the Earl Lutz home.

Miss Hester Bentley and Miss Jane Pierce of Flint, Mich., both students in Denison university, were weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley.

Perley Welch went to Columbus today to visit his son Charles Welch and family.

Try, Stop Me

Something should be done about banquet chairmen who keep guest speakers waiting until the audience begins going home. Hilaire Belloc, the English writer, once took the bull by the horns. Finally called to the podium by the bore in charge of proceedings, Mr. Belloc announced, "I have been asked at long last to give my address. It is Kings' Land Road, Shipley. I should have been there two hours ago, and I am going there immediately. Good night."

McPherson's son confessed sadly to his dad that in a moment of madness he not only had loaned five pounts to a friend, but had neglected to secure a signed promissory note. "Now I kinna collect," he mourned. McPherson, Senior, was equal to the emergency. "Write and tell him you need the ten pounds at once," he ordered. "When he replies that he only owes you five, you'll have it in writing."

Renoir, famous for the wonderfully natural flesh tints on his series of nudes, was asked how he achieved such spectacular results. The French painted shrugged his shoulders and said, "I keep struggling with the canvas until I feel like pinching. Then I know it's right."

The first woman editor of a women's labor paper was Harriet Farley of the Lowell Offering in 1844.

The last Indian war in Idaho territory, the Sheepeater war, ended as late as 70 years ago.

Government Corruption New GOP Battle Cry | 'Reds in High Places' Blast Takes Back Seat

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—"Corruption in the Truman administration" seems to be the new Republican tagline for the 1952 campaign, replacing to some extent at least the earlier emphasis on "Communists in government."

Party leaders apparently feel that in these days of high taxes the public is more interested in squawks about official till-dipping than over the less concrete issue of Communist influence on foreign policy.

Some Republicans point out that the corruption tack has the advantage of using ammunition provided in investigations conducted by Democrats themselves.

The Communist issue raises the whole issue of Senator Joseph McCarthy (R), Wisconsin, and his tactics—a matter on which the Republicans are split among themselves.

Senator George D. Aiken

Voters can expect to hear a swelling chorus of "Throw the rascals out" as election time nears. However, the other issues will not be dropped. Communism in government, the MacArthur firing, government spending and the conduct of foreign affairs, all will come in for a share of GOP campaign attention.

* * * *

● PARTY RESHUFFLE—Vermont's canny GOP Senator George D. Aiken says the country is building up to vast changes in the political party system, with one faction representing the White House and increasing executive authority and the other representing Congress.

Aiken claims the movement has been underway, slowly but surely, for many years and that it took on new steam when Franklin D. Roosevelt entered the White House.

Aiken agrees with those who see no great difference in the Democratic and Republican parties. He contends there is much greater divergence between the White House and the congressional factions, which cuts across lines of the traditional parties.

The Vermonter says that if the trend continues at its present pace the day may come when the White House party may be recognized as the official advocate of absolute authority for the executive agencies.

On the other hand, Aiken believes the Congress party—which he says currently is largely the party of the opposition—may be formally tagged as the organization dedicated to maintaining the largest possible measure of states' rights.

* * * *

● VARIED INTERESTS—The Senate's select committee on small business may not be adept at hitting the headlines but it has certainly developed a facility for sticking its fingers into all sorts of pies.

For example, the unit looked into the threatened shortage of fresh foods in Alaska. It pinned the blame on the Civil Aeronautics Board for putting a non-scheduled airline which served the territory out of business. CAB claimed the non-sked was flying too often while a scheduled line in the area had cut down on its service.

In a survey of the newsprint shortage, the committee received cooperation from an unexpected source.

It mailed out letters to weekly newspapers throughout the country in an effort to find out how they were faring. One letter returned undelivered was stamped by the local postmaster: "Paper gone out of business—no newsprint."

* * * *

● SIGNS OF THE TIMES—A congressional source who bears no love for bureaucrats reports a satiric note developing in the mottoes publicly displayed in some executive department agencies and offices.

Among others, he claims to have observed the following:

Slogans That Sting

1—On the desk of a National Production Authority employe, a sign reading: "It takes a real bureaucrat to develop chaos out of confusion."

2—In a Veterans Administration office, a sign with these words: "Why be difficult when with a little practice you can be impossible?"

3—In the Pentagon, a surreptitiously circulated document bearing the warning: "This document is classified, DBR (Destroy Before Reading)."

The source, with his own touch of satire, suggested this slogan for bureaucracy in general: "Damn the taxpayers! Full spend ahead!"

County Buys 58 Pct. Of Bond Quota

Only 9 Days Left In Sales Campaign

Pickaway County, with nine days left in the current Defense Bond Drive, has attained 58 per cent of its quota of $57,000.

The report, based on figures from the Federal Reserve Bank for the period from Sept. 3 through Oct. 19, noted that all final reports on sales by issuing agents such as banks, postoffices and companies will have to be reported to the Federal Reserve Bank by the close of business Nov. 10 if they are to be included in drive totals.

Judge William Radcliff, local chairman, pointed out that because of the difficulty in compiling reports from 88 counties it is not possible to announce sales totals until about one week after the close of the reporting periods.

Thus some sales made in the county after Oct. 19 will be counted in the totals for the next reporting period. All sales made after Oct. 19 and reported by issuing agents before Nov. 11 will be included in drive totals.

Twenty-three counties have made their quotas and Harrison County, with 192.1 per cent of its quota continues to lead the state. Of the major metropolitan counties, Summit leads with 113.0 per cent of its quota.

Mahoning, with 102.6 per cent, is in second place among the eight. A total of 32 counties have passed the 90 per cent mark.

Mt. Vernon Jury Gambling Report Being Awaited

MT. VERNON, Nov. 1 — The Knox County grand jury is to file a report today on its investigation into gambling in Mt. Vernon.

The jury's probe, begun Oct. 4, followed a series of raids by Sheriff Salathiel Bumpus, two deputies and an investigator of a 25-member citizens committee on Sept. 22-23.

Twenty-eight persons were arrested and 19 of them fined by Common Pleas Judge Jay McDevitt and placed under good behavior bonds. Nine were fined in a justice of peace court.

Four charges of possession of slot machines under the state's new anti-slot machine law were referred to the grand jury.

Parties, Parades, Prizes Celebrate Halloween In Local Elementary Schools

Room Mothers Assist Teachers

Shivering ghosts, old witches, clowns, and assorted characters paraded the streets in Circleville Tuesday afternoon in spite of the chilly weather and were viewed by equally chilly spectators along the line of march.

All elementary schools in the city held Halloween celebrations although Atwater and Corwin street staged no formal parade outside the buildings.

The party in Atwater school was planned by Parent Teacher Association chairman, Mrs. Bishop Hill, with the assistance of mothers from each room.

The children marched in and out the rooms and costumes for first, second and third grades were judged by Mrs. Edwin Jury and Mrs. Franklin Kibler; fourth and fifth grade winners were selected by applause of the other children. Refreshments were served in each room and pictures of winners were taken by Mrs. Clayton Vaughan.

Winners and mothers assisting the teachers in each room were: First grade, Mrs. Carl Snider, teacher, winners, Nancy Harden, Elaine Goldschmidt, Patty Hines, Sharon Stebelton, Roger Kirby and David Stevens; mothers helping, Mrs. Kenneth Hill and Mrs. Russell Ward.

In Mrs. Mary Luse's second grade, assisting mothers were Mrs. J. M. Hedges and Mrs. R. M. Morris Jr. Winners were Loretta Shaeffer, Elaine Schelb, Linda Ankrom, Terry Robinson, Charles Rice and Bob Giffen.

Mrs. Robert Bower, third grade teacher, was assisted by Mrs. John Grigg, Mrs. Kirk Cupp and Mrs. C. T. Goodroe. Winning costumes were worn by Mary Ann Johnson, Pamela Cupp, Dale Wolfe, Dale Giffen, Greta Eccard and Alex Cook.

U.S. Boy Scouts Schedule National Fall Roundup

The Boy Scouts of America—nearly 2,800,000 strong—are out to do one of their biggest "good turns" this Fall and have a lot of fun while doing it.

In all parts of the nation they will stage a "roundup," with a grand array of colorful activities in order to bring the Scout program to the greatest possible number of boys who want it.

In Pickaway County's Boy Scout network, the biggest project facing the Local program will be the annual finance drive, slated to begin Nov. 28.

The finance drive actually will be a minor test in the rejuvenated Boy Scout movement here, a feeling-out process to determine how high local interest is in the constructive youth program.

Clayt Chalfin has been named campaign chairman for this year's finance drive, while the reorganized Scout program now is under the direction of Clay Vaughn.

* * *

SCOUT LEADERS recognize that the times demand an even more aggressive program, preparing a larger percentage of the nation's youth for devoted, able citizenship. Since the Boy Scouts of America was established in 1910, more than 18,000,000 American boys and leaders have been affected by its program. Each year since 1910 the organization has recorded steady growth.

In 1916 Congress granted the Boy Scouts a federal charter stating that the Movement was "for all boys" to "supplement and enlarge established modern educational facilities in activities in the great and healthful out-of-doors where may be better developed physical strength and endurance, self-reliance and the powers of initiative and resourcefulness all for the purpose of establishing through the boys to today the very highest type of American citizenship."

The charter further stated that Scouting was "to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues."

How well these "other agencies" have shared in bringing Scouting to boys in their community is seen in the latest report to Congress. Today there are 80,298 Cub packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units. Churches and synagogues of all faiths sponsor better than 47 per cent of all these units, while civic and fraternal organizations having national or state organizations stand behind another 22 per cent of the scouting units.

The national roundup has three objectives. It seeks to recruit more new boys into Scouting, organize new units to take care of them and to sustain the interest of present members by a broadened program of activities.

Animal Injuries Expected

Winter Quarters To Bring Danger

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Livestock owners were alerted to the dangers of animal injuries in the weeks just ahead in a special bulletin today from the American Foundation for Animal Health.

With the coming of colder weather, there's more chance for injury as livestock is brought off the ranges and pastures into closer confines of Winter quarters, foundation authorities pointed out.

"Typical of these injuries are horn wounds, bruises, cuts and scratches from nails, barb wire and other sharp objects," the report said, adding:

"Also, during cold weather there's danger that livestock will stumble over frozen objects and icy spots, sometimes bringing injury or bruised feet."

Livestock owners whose animals suffer wounds were urged to take the following precautions:

* * *

(1) IF THE WOUND is bleeding excessively, pressure should be applied to the affected area with sterile gauze.

(2) If the bleeding continues, a tourniquet may be needed also.

(3) Before examining a wound, the owner's hands should always be washed to reduce chance of infection.

(4) Strong antiseptics which may aggravate the injury should never be used.

(5) Animals with serious wounds should be placed under a veterinarian's care. In these cases, the attending veterinarian may need to give treatment to prevent tetanus, and sometimes internal medication to prevent complicating infections.

Spiders are never caught in their own webs.

Firm Chief Says Drivers Disobey

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Benjamin Fine, manager of Dworkin, Inc., a Cleveland trucking firm, says that company drivers disobeyed orders in not having their loads checked.

Testifying before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, which has the company under citation for "overloads," Fine said trucks were not checked as to proper weight because they left the Cleveland headquarters at late periods.

The manager also noted that the company uses mainly its own trucks and drivers and that there would be no incentive on the part of the operators to overload their trucks.

Insurance Case Is Decided By Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — In an Ashland County case, the Ohio Supreme Court has affirmed the lower courts in holding that the American Casualty Co. of Reading, Pa., did not have to pay on an auto accident policy once held by Leroy Kelly.

Faye Gibbons recovered a judgment of $10,000 against Kelly as a result of an accident March 19, 1949. When Kelly did not pay, Gibbons filed a supplementary suit against the insurance company.

The company contended, however, that it had served notice of cancellation of Kelly's policy prior to the accident.

The insurance agent, instead of returning the unused premiums to Kelly, used them to apply to Kelly's other insurance charges. Since he did not receive a rebate, Kelly contended that his policy was still in force.

The supreme court held, however, that the policy was effectively cancelled the previous September, and that the company could not be held responsible.

U.S. 'Know-How' Needed Abroad

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Sen. Smith, (R) N.J., said today the U.S. must supply "know-how" instead of "endless handouts" to help other nations.

Speaking at the National Foreign Trade Convention, Smith said that U.S. should become the leader in developing international trade and helping other countries increase their production efficiency. Smith declared:

"The world does not want our bounty and we cannot afford endless free handouts. One thing we have in abundance is the 'know-how' to produce. We can afford to give this away if it will help those other areas to help themselves."

U. S. Must Build Civilian Defense

By MILLARD CALDWELL
U. S. Civil Defense Director

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

The most staggering civil defense problems are public education, training, and organization. All must be solved without delay. Immediate training for some 15,000,000 Americans, and intensive education in self-protection for 135,000,000 others are vital. Here are some facts and figures for you to think about.

Try to picture the number of trained workers that would be needed to handle an attack situation. As an example, a single first-aid station could consist of almost 200 workers. They could handle about 600 wounded people in 24 hours.

To care for those injured by one Hiroshima-size atomic bomb, nearly 100 such first-aid stations would be needed. That adds up to more than 20,000 first-aid workers needed for each atomic bomb—but it doesn't include hospital staffs.

An engineering service as large or even larger would be needed to clear away the rubble before first-aiders could reach the wounded. A highly trained rescue service would be needed to get people out of wrecked or burning buildings. A large and efficient supply service would be needed to bring in food, clothing, and medicine.

There would be other jobs of putting out fires, restoring utilities, caring for the homeless, gathering families together again, feeding the people, and getting the factories and community life rolling once more.

* * *

MOST OF THE ways of meeting atomic disaster are not new or different, except in size. The biggest problem is to prepare ourselves to handle disasters greater than any that ever have struck the United States.

Remember what you read in the previous article about the Japanese at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They were almost completely unprepared—and what happened? Their indifference in organizing an efficient civil defense should be a grim warning to us.

Here are some really important things to remember. They make up civil defense:

1. A possible enemy has the weapons now to attack us.

2. There is a defense against any attack, including atomic warfare, and civil defense is a big part of it.

3. At least 15,000,000 Americans must be trained in civil defense, and every American must learn the facts of survival.

4. Without civil defense your city would be helpless; with civil defense, your losses could be cut in half.

5. Your state and local civil defense directors must have your support. They have an important job for you no matter where you live.

6. Read the official civil defense booklets right away. You can double your chances of survival if you know what to do.

7. Civil defense is up to you. Get into civil defense right now.

The biggest problem before us now is to be prepared on the home front—and that problem can be met only through civil defense. Each of us must have a job to do if trouble comes—and must know how to do it.

(The next article will discuss who is responsible for civil defense.)

PUCO Is Asking Attorney Opinion On Truck Ruling

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has asked the attorney general for an opinion on a truck law amendment passed by the last legislature.

At the same time the PUCO suspended a rate schedule filed by the Ohio Irregular Common Carriers Bureau, Inc., for eight truck companies. The PUCO held up the tariffs until next March 9.

The last legislature allowed irregular carriers to interchange loads with other irregular carriers

Part of the trucking industry immediately indicated that the effect of the law might greatly increase the value of an irregular certificate because irregular carriers would have the right to operate throughout the state.

The commission asked the attorney general for a definition of the phrase "interchange without transfer" since it was not clear as to whether this referred to transferring loads or trailers.

Winners Of Ashville's Halloween Beard, Costume Contests Are Told

The Halloween parade and masquerade, sponsored by Ashville Community Club Tuesday evening, attracted over 200 masked participants and Ashville streets were lined with spectators who came to see the parade and the judging held in Community Park.

A feature of the celebration was a beard-growing contest for the best beard raised in the last two weeks. After considerable whisker pulling and measuring, Tom Bozman was declared the winner and given ten silver dollars as a prize.

Runnersup Dale Fout and Tom Rife were each given consolation prizes of two silver dollars each with the admonition to use the money to "go get a shave."

In the poster contest, Ellen Essick won first prize in the high school contest with Paul O'Day, the runnerup. In the contest for grades four through eight, Patty Frazier won first, Bob Featheringham, second; and Joy Trone, third. Some 50 posters were entered in the contest.

* * *

CHARLES TRONE won a special prize for being the oldest spectator. Mr. Trone announced his age as 85 years. Little Miss Charyl Roby, aged 10 months, won the prize for the youngest person present at the judging.

Masquerade prizes were awarded in pre-school, grades 1 to 4, grades 5 to 8, high school, and adult groups in the following classes: prettiest, ugliest, and most comic. In most classes three prizes were given; $2.00; $1.00, and $.50. As a novel idea, prizes of one dollar and over were all paid in new silver dollars.

The winners in each class were: Prettiest: A. Pre-School: Marsha Cook, Terry Hoffhines, Jackie Lindsey. B. Grades 1-4: Janice Hicks, Marjorie Nungester, Marilyn Amos. C. Grade 5-8: Ronnie Bartholomew, Carol Cook, Judy Gloyd. D. High School: Joanne Graham, Anna Mae Slick. E. Adult: Jeraldine Cline, Ethel Cook, Bryan Grant.

OTHER PRIZES awarded were: Best Couples: Mrs. Virginia Wilson and Elaine Bowman; Patty Frazier and Judy Smith; Easter Wallen and Jane Campbell; Best dressed "man" costume, Mrs. Virginia Wilson, Best lady costume, Elaine Bowman; Best dressed twin costume Marilyn and Martin Younkin;

Best hobo Lucille Carpenter; Best witch Larry Hix; Best cowboy Michael Cloud; Best hill-billy, Mrs. Clara Sampsill; Most original Judy Bowers; Fattest man David Stuck; Fattest lady Lula Wheeler; fattest child Janet Cline.

Because of the lateness of the judging, a few prize winners in other classes left before their names could be obtained or their prizes awarded. All who took part in the parade were given a ticket worth 10 cents in trade as a consolation prize if they received no other prize.

County Buys 58 Pct. Of Bond Quota

Only 9 Days Left In Sales Campaign

Pickaway County, with nine days left in the current Defense Bond Drive, has attained 58 per cent of its quota of $57,000.

The report, based on figures from the Federal Reserve Bank for the period from Sept. 3 through Oct. 19, noted that all final reports on sales by issuing agents such as banks, postoffices and companies will have to be reported to the Federal Reserve Bank by the close of business Nov. 10 if they are to be included in drive totals.

Judge William Radcliff, local chairman, pointed out that because of the difficulty in compiling reports from 88 counties it is not possible to announce sales totals until about one week after the close of the reporting periods.

Thus some sales made in the county after Oct. 19 will be counted in the totals for the next reporting period. All sales made after Oct. 19 and reported by issuing agents before Nov. 11 will be included in drive totals.

Twenty-three counties have made their quotas and Harrison County, with 192.1 per cent of its quota continues to lead the state. Of the major metropolitan counties, Summit leads with 113.0 per cent of its quota.

Mahoning, with 102.6 per cent, is in second place among the eight. A total of 32 counties have passed the 90 per cent mark.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Ugly Fat Fades Away Lost 38 Lbs. with Rennel

"Because I have lost so much weight from taking Rennel Concentrate I must write and tell you of my success," writes Mrs. Lee Hilliard, 1952 E. 84 St., Cleveland, Ohio. "Since I started taking Rennel I have lost 38 lbs. easily, without any exercise or dieting, while going about my regular routine of work. I am 50 years old and I cannot recommend too highly this pleasant easy way of losing unwanted pounds. I feel so much better and can get around so easily without all that excess weight. It's wonderful just watching the pounds fade away."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Pro Cage Loop Begins Its 6th Season Thursday

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—The National Basketball Association begins its sixth season tonight.

The ten-team pro loop opens up with two games. In one inaugural, Fort Wayne visits Syracuse and in the other the defending champion Rochester Royals play host to Baltimore. The other six teams in the league swing into activity Saturday.

A total of 333 games will be played before playoff time in the middle of March. Each club is slated to engage in 66 contests.

While the eastern division remains the same with the Philadelphia Warriors defending their title against New York, Boston, Syracuse and Baltimore, there will be a new addition to the western division.

In addition to Minneapolis, Rochester, Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, Milwaukee has joined the division, replacing the franchise which formerly operated in Tri-Cities, Illinois.

Buckeyes Stress Defensive For Wildcat Test

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Coach Woody Hayes and his overhauled Ohio State gridders aren't taking any chances against a Northwestern team whose specialty is ground-gaining.

Hayes put the Buck defense through a rugged practice session yesterday with an eye toward slowing down or stopping the Wildcats' ground attack Saturday in Ohio Stadium.

The hard, consistent tackling, the feinting and maneuvering with different variations of the Northwestern "T" impressed Hayes enough to have him remark:

"They were really aggressive out there tonight. That's what makes a good defense. There definitely was improvement."

Northwestern has gained 1,116 net yards on ground plays while picking up 546 through the air. Ohio State has moved 789 yards on the ground and 703 in the air.

STAN THE MAN IS SECOND

Campanella Is Named MVP Winner Of National Loop

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Roy Campanella, the stocky Brooklyn Dodger catcher who refused to "fold," is the National League's most valuable player for 1951.

Campy was officially designated for the honor yesterday by the Baseball Writers' Association, who voted him in ahead of Stan Musial of the Cardinals and Monte Irvin and Sal Maglie of the Giants.

The Dodger receiver, considered in many quarters to be the game's best since Bill Dickey, piled up a total of 243 points to Musial's 191. Third place Irvin got 166 while Maglie received 153.

A 24-man committee did the voting and a first place ballot counted 14 points. Nine points were awarded for second place, eight for third and so on down the line.

* * *

CAMPANELLA was named on 11 first place ballots.

Although plagued by various injuries throughout the season, the burly backstop appeared in 143 games and batted .325. He drove in 108 runs and hit 33 homers.

In the important September stretch, while many of the Brooks stood by and watched their once mountainous lead of 13½ games wither away, Campanella hit .387.

Campy, a genial cigar-chewing pappy of five, is the third player in the last 13 years to be named from a non-pennant winner. Roy is the fifth Dodger in history to get the award.

He also is the first catcher to win the Kenesaw M. Landis trophy since Ernie Lombardi of the Reds in 1938.

Musial, the league's five time batting champion with a .355 mark and winner of the MVP award three times, was the only player to be named on all 24 ballots.

But Stan the man received only two first place designations. Irvin, the runs-batted-in king with 121, received five first place votes.

* * *

THE 23-GAME winning Maglie was followed by Brooklyn's Preacher Roe in fifth place with 138 points. Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers was sixth with 92 points. Fleet-footed Richie Ashburn of the Phillies was seventh with 69. Eighth place went to Bobby Thomson of the Giants with 62 and Murry Dickson and Ralph Kiner of the Pirates finished ninth and tenth with 59 and 49 points respectively.

Philadelphia's Jim Konstanty, who won the award in 1950, failed to receive even an "honorable mention" this time.

Of the 24 men who were named in the voting, seven were from Brooklyn, five from the Giants, three from Cincinnati and two each from the Phils and Pirates. Musial was the only Redbird named.

Mays Slated For New Exam By Draft Board

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 1—State Selective Service Director J. T. Johnson said today that Willie Mays, New York Giants outfielder, has been ordered to take another pre-induction examination.

Johnson said the 20-year-old rookie was classified 4-F by his local draft board in Birmingham because he flunked an aptitude test given as a part of the examination he took last week.

The director said ordering another test for Mays is not unusual. He explained:

"In view of the fact that Willie Mays was a high school graduate with better than average grades, I am requesting the Birmingham induction station to set a date for re-examination."

Don Greenwood Quits Post As Toledo Mentor

TOLEDO, Nov. 1—Toledo university's athletic board today is expected to accept the resignation of Head Football Coach Don Greenwood.

Greenwood, former University of Illinois and Cleveland Browns football star, turned in his resignation yesterday but did not disclose his reasons for the action.

However, it is understood that Greenwood was irked by what he termed officials' failure to protect players during the Toledo-Bowling Green game last week.

An argument which followed after Mel Triplett, Toledo fullback, was knocked out during the contest helped touch off a riot among fans and players after the game.

U.S. Boy Scouts Schedule National Fall Roundup

The Boy Scouts of America—nearly 2,800,000 strong—are out to do one of their biggest "good turns" this Fall and have a lot of fun while doing it.

In all parts of the nation they will stage a "roundup," with a grand array of colorful activities in order to bring the Scout program to the greatest possible number of boys who want it.

In Pickaway County's Boy Scout network, the biggest project facing the Local program will be the annual finance drive, slated to begin Nov. 28.

The finance drive actually will be a minor test in the rejuvenated Boy Scout movement here, a feeling-out process to determine how high local interest is in the constructive youth program.

Clayt Chaffin has been named campaign chairman for this year's finance drive, while the reorganized Scout program now is under the direction of Clay Vaughn.

* * *

SCOUT LEADERS recognize that the times demand an even more aggressive program, preparing a larger percentage of the nation's youth for devoted, able citizenship. Since the Boy Scouts of America was established in 1910, more than 18,000,000 American boys and leaders have been affected by its program. Each year since 1910 the organization has recorded steady growth.

In 1916 Congress granted the Boy Scouts a federal charter stating that the Movement was "for all boys" to "supplement and enlarge established modern educational facilities in activities in the great and healthful out-of-doors where may be better developed physical strength and endurance, self-reliance and the powers of initiative and resourcefulness all for the purpose of establishing through the boys to today the very highest type of American citizenship."

The charter further stated that Scouting was "to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues."

How well these "other agencies" have shared in bringing Scouting to boys in their community is seen in the latest report to Congress. Today there are 80,298 Cub packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units. Churches and synagogues of all faiths sponsor better than 47 per cent of all these units, while civic and fraternal organizations having national or state organizations stand behind another 22 per cent of the scouting units.

The national roundup has three objectives. It seeks to recruit more new boys into Scouting, organize new units to take care of them and to sustain the interest of present members by a broadened program of activities.

Rose Jet Earns Honors As Top Two-Year-Old

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Rose Jet has clinched honors as the best two-year-old filly of the year.

The trim Main Chance farm filly wrapped up the title with her impressive victory yesterday in the Demoiselle stakes at Jamaica.

Rose Jet brought home $32,600 more for her owner, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Graham, and boosted her earnings to $130,785 to date.

It was her third straight major stakes victory. Rose Jet took first money in the Matron and Selima at Laurel Park earlier.

Tigers To Seek Sixth Win Friday Against Light, Speedy Wildcats

Circleville high school's Tiger gridders will be looking for their sixth win in eight starts Friday when they invade the Wildcats of Westerville.

But the Tigers will have to put out a little something extra if they want to come back with a win.

Both teams to date have chalked up impressive records in their respective circles, Circleville with five wins, a tie and a loss and Westerville with six wins and one loss.

And both teams have rolled up a good number of points while allowing their opponents a maximum of two touchdowns per game.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE has amassed a total of 120 points so far this season in seven contests, Westerville has tallied 192.

And Circleville has allowed only 39 points to be scored against it while the Wildcat team has given up only 40 points.

Westerville's record this season has been 27-14 over Upper Sandusky; 46-0 over Centerburg; 21-6 over Marysville; 32-7 over Grove City, a 7-0 loss to London; 34-6 over Worthington; and 32-0 over Hilliards.

Circleville's season record consists of a 7-0 win over Lancaster; 18-6 win over Wilmington; 37-7 win over Hillsboro; 19-13 win over Monroe; tie against St. Charles; 32-0 win over Greenfield; and a 6-0 loss to Holy Rosary.

Actual comparisons between the two teams is impossible, since neither has played a common opponent nor even an opponent which has played an opponent of the other.

But Circleville will have at least one advantage over the Westervillers Friday night, an important advantage football-wise.

* * *

THE TIGERS will be sporting a good weight edge over the Wildcats, both on the line and in the backfield.

Westerville Coach Jim Scarfton has said his biggest boys in the lineup Friday night will be End Bob Townsend, Guard Dick Gallogly and Fullback Wayne Stratton—each weighing 170.

Circleville's lineup will feature the efforts of Big Bill Gillis, a strapping 255 pounder. Gillis to date has been instrumental in holding down enemy ground gainers.

Balancing Circleville's weight advantage in the contest will be the speed of the smaller Westerville gridders.

Westerville has been scouted to find a well-balanced squad, scoring honors about even in the backfield and two returning halfbacks, Dan Burwell and Bob Loar, who gave the Tigers bad moments last year.

The Tigers will be meeting the Wildcats for the sixth time in 16 years Friday night. Circleville has won four of the six contests during the period with scores of 18-13, 27-25, 30-12 and 40-13 last year. Westerville has won the other two, 19-12 and 20-0

Probable starting lineup for the Wildcat crew in Friday's meeting, due to begin at about 8 p. m., is:

Ends—Bob Townsend, Dan Morris.

Tackles—Tom Beum and Gene Kuhn.

Guards—Dick Gallogly, Charles Anderson.

Center—Paul Sanford.

Quarterback—Dewey Miller.

Halfbacks—Dan Burwell and Bob Loar.

Fullback—Wayne Stratton.

Sokolsky's

I often wonder who does these stupid things. Certainly, there are plenty of educated Germans who have read the Gettysburg Address. I wonder if the slimy Gerhart eisler, Soviet propagandist in East Germany, has not countered with a reminder that the inscription on the bell, attributed to Lincoln, was not spoken by Lincoln.

In the same circular, General Eisenhower is quoted as follows:

"In the battle for truth, you and I have a definite part to play through the Crusade for Freedom."

But is it truth to switch Lincoln from a nationalist to an internationalist, from an American to a one worlder?

I make this protest because the evidence is clear in China, Korea, Iran, Egypt, in the British elections and wherever it is possible to gauge public opinion that America is being presented in a false light. Maybe we do not know how to tell our story.

But there is a wonderful American story to tell. For here, over a period of three centuries 50 races of man have learned to live together, in freedom. Here men and women have not feared government but have loved God and in the law of God have found a way of life which was best expressed by Thomas Jefferson in the preamble to the Declaration of Independence.

When some smartaleck substitutes for that glorious story a twisted sentence from Lincoln, I feel impelled to protest and to ask you to protest. We need never lie.

U. S. Must Build Civilian Defense

By MILLARD CALDWELL
U. S. Civil Defense Director

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

The most staggering civil defense problems are public education, training, and organization. All must be solved without delay. Immediate training for some 15,000,000 Americans, and intensive education in self-protection for 135,000,000 others are vital. Here are some facts and figures for you to think about.

Try to picture the number of trained workers that would be needed to handle an attack situation. As an example, a single first-aid station could consist of almost 200 workers. They could handle about 600 wounded people in 24 hours.

To care for those injured by one Hiroshima-size atomic bomb, nearly 100 such first-aid stations would be needed. That adds up to more than 20,000 first-aid workers needed for each atomic bomb—but it doesn't include hospital staffs.

An engineering service as large or even larger would be needed to clear away the rubble before first-aiders could reach the wounded. A highly trained rescue service would be needed to get people out of wrecked or burning buildings. A large and efficient supply service would be needed to bring in food, clothing, and medicine.

There would be other jobs of putting out fires, restoring utilities, caring for the homeless, gathering families together again, feeding the people, and getting the factories and community life rolling once more.

* * *

MOST OF THE ways of meeting atomic disaster are not new or different, except in size. The biggest problem is to prepare ourselves to handle disasters greater than any that ever have struck the United States.

Remember what you read in the previous article about the Japanese at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They were almost completely unprepared—and what happened? Their indifference in organizing an efficient civil defense should be a grim warning to us.

Here are some really important things to remember. They make up civil defense:

1. A possible enemy has the weapons now to attack us.

2. There is a defense against any attack, including atomic warfare, and civil defense is a big part of it.

3. At least 15,000,000 Americans must be trained in civil defense, and every American must learn the facts of survival.

4. Without civil defense your city would be helpless; with civil defense, your losses could be cut in half.

5. Your state and local civil defense directors must have your support. They have an important job for you no matter where you live.

6. Read the official civil defense booklets right away. You can double your chances of survival if you know what to do.

7. Civil defense is up to you. Get into civil defense right now.

The biggest problem before us now is to be prepared on the home front—and that problem can be met only through civil defense. Each of us must have a job to do if trouble comes—and must know how to do it.

(The next article will discuss who is responsible for civil defense.)

PUCO Is Asking Attorney Opinion On Truck Ruling

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has asked the attorney general for an opinion on a truck law amendment passed by the last legislature.

At the same time the PUCO suspended a rate schedule filed by the Ohio Irregular Common Carriers Bureau, Inc., for eight truck companies. The PUCO held up the tariffs until next March 9.

The last legislature allowed irregular carriers to interchange loads with other irregular carriers

Part of the trucking industry immediately indicated that the effect of the law might greatly increase the value of an irregular certificate because irregular carriers would have the right to operate throughout the state.

The commission asked the attorney general for a definition of the phrase "interchange without transfer" since it was not clear as to whether this referred to transferring loads or trailers.

Winners Of Ashville's Halloween Beard, Costume Contests Are Told

The Halloween parade and masquerade, sponsored by Ashville Community Club Tuesday evening, attracted over 200 masked participants and Ashville streets were lined with spectators who came to see the parade and the judging held in Community Park.

A feature of the celebration was a beard-growing contest for the best beard raised in the last two weeks. After considerable whisker pulling and measuring, Tom Bozman was declared the winner and given ten silver dollars as a prize.

Runnersup Dale Fout and Tom Rife were each given consolation prizes of two silver dollars each with the admonition to use the money to "go get a shave."

In the poster contest, Ellen Essick won first prize in the high school contest with Paul O'Day, the runnerup. In the contest for grades four through eight, Patty Frazier won first, Bob Featheringham, second; and Joy Trone, third. Some 50 posters were entered in the contest.

* * *

CHARLES TRONE won a special prize for being the oldest spectator. Mr. Trone announced his age as 85 years. Little Miss Charyl Roby, aged 10 months, won the prize for the youngest person present at the judging.

Masquerade prizes were awarded in pre-school, grades 1 to 4, grades 5 to 8, high school, and adult groups in the following classes: prettiest, ugliest, and most comic. In most classes three prizes were given; $2.00; $1.00, and $.50. As a novel idea, prizes of one dollar and over were all paid in new silver dollars.

The winners in each class were: Prettiest: A. Pre-School: Marsha Cook, Terry Hoffhines, Jackie Lindsey. B. Grades 1-4: Janice Hicks, Marjorie Nungester, Marilyn Amos. C. Grade 5-8: Ronnie Bartholomew, Carol Cook, Judy Gloyd. D. High School: Joanne Graham, Anna Mae Slick. E. Adult: Jeraldine Cline, Ethel Cook, Bryan Grant.

Ugliest: A. Karen J. Rife, Bobby Smith, Jimmy Peters. B. Tommy Cline, Bob Hoover, Donald Younkin. C. Chester Fortner, Junior Schillinberg, Don Foreman. D. Richard Swank, Mauna Lee Graham. E. Josephine Cline, Ralph Fausnaugh, Robert Hicks.

Most Comic: A. Judy Huston and Nancy Tosca, Dianne Custer, Kenny Roese. B. Ruby Schillinberg, Gary Tigner, Jacky Smith. C. Velma Kuhn, Bob Boyer, Bill Hollenbeck. E. Mrs. Louise Hick, Harold Cameron, Virginia Kocher.

* * *

Best hobo Lucille Carpenter; Best witch Larry Hix; Best cowboy Michael Cloud; Best hill-billy, Mrs. Clara Sampsill; Most original Judy Bowers; Fattest man David Stuck; Fattest lady Lula Wheeler; fattest child Janet Cline.

Because of the lateness of the judging, a few prize winners in other classes left before their names could be obtained or their prizes awarded. All who took part in the parade were given a ticket worth 10 cents in trade as a consolation prize if they received no other prize.

Walcutt's Announcement Sets Up May Primary Ballot

Pickaway's Senator Sure Of Win

He Thinks Lausche To Be Opponent

Ohio's 1952 political picture is beginning to shape up.

The announcement by Pickaway County's state senator, Roscoe Walcutt, a Republican, that he would be a candidate for governor in next May's primaries virtually set up the May ballot in both parties.

Walcutt was the first man in either party to declare his candidacy for the state's highest office. However, Governor Lausche is expected to seek an unprecedented fourth term as a Democrat, while Walcutt probably will have opposition from Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, a brother of Sen. Robert A. Taft but far more liberal in his views.

In fact, Charles Taft serves in Cincinnati's city council as a "Charterite," that faction composed of Democrats and dissident Republicans who now hold the reins in the Queen City.

Charles Taft is known to have contacted most if not all of the 88 Republican county chairmen in the state, and is expected to announce his plans shortly after next week's municipal election.

In some quarters Walcutt's announcement was seen as an attempt to beat Charles Taft to the punch.

* * *

WALCUTT IS CERTAIN to be backed by those old-line GOPsters who feel that Charles Taft has been playing footsie too long with the Democrats. If Taft comes in, an all-out, free-swinging fight for the Republican nomination is certain.

Walcutt, in fact, touched off the fuse for such an embroglio in his announcement with a verbal swipe both at Taft, his obviously-expected primary opponent, and at Lausche, the man Walcutt expects to face next November.

After the customary promise of "an energetic, hard-hitting campaign," Walcutt teed off on Taft in this manner:

"I shall run as a real Republican and not as a 'Republican' who has swallowed in whole or in part the New Deal philosophy of government."

Then, recognizing that "the Democratic nominee will be Frank Lausche," Walcutt had this to say:

"By reason of his recent blank-check endorsement at the White House of the whole Truman-New Deal mess, he has made it possible for the voters of Ohio to make a positive choice in this state between Trumanism and the kind of government in which Republicans believe."

* * *

THUS AN ENTIRE GOP ballot has shaped up—to receive, of course, a few added starters. But the Republicans could field a complete ticket today for major state offices, with Walcutt—and possibly Charles Taft—as gubernatorial candidates and Sen. John W. Bricker, who has announced his candidacy for reelection, leading the ticket.

The only empty spot to date is for state auditor, a post now held by Democrat Joseph T. Ferguson. Columbus Mayor James A. Rhodes, who once served as city auditor of Columbus, is being mentioned for that post to oppose Ferguson's expected bid for reelection.

Columbus Republican Attorney Fred J. Milligan has announced for lieutenant-governor, to oppose an expected reelection bid by George D. Nye, who with Lausche and Ferguson composes the Democratic contingent in the statehouse.

The other offices are held by Republicans who are expected to seek re-election. They are Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Treasurer Roger W. Tracy, and Attorney General C. William O'Neill.

The Democrats have a lot further to go. They do not even have a U.S. Senate candidate, although Price Administrator Michael DiSalle, former mayor of Toledo, and Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke are being mentioned.

Getting back to Walcutt, however.

* * *

THE WHITE-HAIRED majority leader, now 63, is completing his fifth term in the state senate, representing Franklin and Pickaway Counties.

He was minority leader in the 1949-50 session, and is chairman of the Ohio Program commission. He also headed the commission's predecessor, the Postwar Program Commission.

A native of Franklin County—in fact, he has never lived more than a mile from his birthplace in Clinton township—he attended public schools and Otterbein college. He then taught rural schools at age 19 until he became a reporter in the Franklin County courts.

He studied law meanwhile, and was admitted to the bar in 1925. He is a lay leader in the Methodist church, active in fraternal affairs, and has been president of the board of trustees of the Masonic Home at Springfield for a number of years.

He is married and has two sons and two daughters.

Winnie Forgets His New Position

LONDON, Nov. 1—Newly-elected Prime Minister Winston Churchill evoked cheers and laughter yesterday when he entered the House of Commons and from habit started walking toward his old seat on the opposition party's front bench.

Amid Conservative cheers and Laborite laughter he realized his mistake and went to the government bench.

DRIVE HERE DUE NOV. 28

U.S. Boy Scouts Schedule National Fall Roundup

The Boy Scouts of America—nearly 2,800,000 strong—are out to do one of their biggest "good turns" this Fall and have a lot of fun while doing it.

In all parts of the nation they will stage a "roundup," with a grand array of colorful activities in order to bring the Scout program to the greatest possible number of boys who want it.

In Pickaway County's Boy Scout network, the biggest project facing the local program will be the annual finance drive, slated to begin Nov. 28.

The finance drive actually will be a minor test in the rejuvenated Boy Scout movement here, a feeling-out process to determine how high local interest is in the constructive youth program.

Clayt Chalfin has been named campaign chairman for this year's finance drive, while the reorganized Scout program now is under the direction of Clay Vaughn.

* * *

SCOUT LEADERS recognize that the times demand an even more aggressive program, preparing a larger percentage of the nation's youth for devoted, able citizenship. Since the Boy Scouts of America was established in 1910, more than 18,000,000 American boys and leaders have been affected by its program. Each year since 1910 the organization has recorded steady growth.

In 1916 Congress granted the Boy Scouts a federal charter stating that the Movement was "for all boys" to "supplement and enlarge established modern educational facilities in activities in the great and healthful out-of-doors where may be better developed physical strength and endurance, self-reliance and the powers of initiative and resourcefulness all for the purpose of establishing through the boys to today the very highest type of American citizenship."

The charter further stated that Scouting was "to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues."

How well these "other agencies" have shared in bringing Scouting to boys in their community is seen in the latest report to Congress. Today there are 80,298 Cub packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units. Churches and synagogues of all faiths sponsor better than 47 per cent of all these units, while civic and fraternal organizations having national or state organizations stand behind another 22 per cent of the scouting units.

The national roundup has three objectives. It seeks to recruit more new boys into Scouting, organize new units to take care of them and to sustain the interest of present members by a broadened program of activities.

U. S. Must Build Civilian Defense

By MILLARD CALDWELL
U. S. Civil Defense Director

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

The most staggering civil defense problems are public education, training, and organization. All must be solved without delay. Immediate training for some 15,000,000 Americans, and intensive education in self-protection for 135,000,000 others are vital. Here are some facts and figures for you to think about.

Try to picture the number of trained workers that would be needed to handle an attack situation. As an example, a single first-aid station could consist of almost 200 workers. They could handle about 600 wounded people in 24 hours.

To care for those injured by one Hiroshima-size atomic bomb, nearly 100 such first-aid stations would be needed. That adds up to more than 20,000 first-aid workers needed for each atomic bomb—but it doesn't include hospital staffs.

An engineering service as large or even larger would be needed to clear away the rubble before first-aiders could reach the wounded. A highly trained rescue service would be needed to get people out of wrecked or burning buildings. A large and efficient supply service would be needed to bring in food, clothing, and medicine.

There would be other jobs of putting out fires, restoring utilities, caring for the homeless, gathering families together again, feeding the people, and getting the factories and community life rolling once more.

* * *

MOST OF THE ways of meeting atomic disaster are not new or different, except in size. The biggest problem is to prepare ourselves to handle disasters greater than any that ever have struck the United States.

Remember what you read in the previous article about the Japanese at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They were almost completely unprepared—and what happened? Their indifference in organizing an efficient civil defense should be a grim warning to us.

Here are some really important things to remember. They make up civil defense:

1. A possible enemy has the weapons now to attack us.

2. There is a defense against any attack, including atomic warfare, and civil defense is a big part of it.

3. At least 15,000,000 Americans must be trained in civil defense, and every American must learn the facts of survival.

4. Without civil defense your city would be helpless; with civil defense, your losses could be cut in half.

5. Your state and local civil defense directors must have your support. They have an important job for you no matter where you live.

6. Read the official civil defense booklets right away. You can double your chances of survival if you know what to do.

7. Civil defense is up to you. Get into civil defense right now.

The biggest problem before us now is to be prepared on the home front—and that problem can be met only through civil defense. Each of us must have a job to do if trouble comes—and must know how to do it.

(The next article will discuss who is responsible for civil defense.)

PUCO Is Asking Attorney Opinion On Truck Ruling

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1 — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has asked the attorney general for an opinion on a truck law amendment passed by the last legislature.

At the same time the PUCO suspended a rate schedule filed by the Ohio Irregular Common Carriers Bureau, Inc., for eight truck companies. The PUCO held up the tariffs until next March 9.

The last legislature allowed irregular carriers to interchange loads with other irregular carriers

Part of the trucking industry immediately indicated that the effect of the law might greatly increase the value of an irregular certificate because irregular carriers would have the right to operate throughout the state.

The commission asked the attorney general for a definition of the phrase "interchange without transfer" since it was not clear as to whether this referred to transferring loads or trailers.

Winners Of Ashville's Halloween Beard, Costume Contests Are Told

The Halloween parade and masquerade, sponsored by Ashville Community Club Tuesday evening, attracted over 200 masked participants and Ashville streets were lined with spectators who came to see the parade and the judging held in Community Park.

A feature of the celebration was a beard-growing contest for the best beard raised in the last two weeks. After considerable whisker pulling and measuring, Tom Bozman was declared the winner and given ten silver dollars as a prize.

Runnersup Dale Fout and Tom Rife were each given consolation prizes of two silver dollars each with the admonition to use the money to "go get a shave."

In the poster contest, Ellen Essick won first prize in the high school contest with Paul O'Day, the runnerup. In the contest for grades four through eight, Patty Frazier won first, Bob Featheringham, second; and Joy Trone, third. Some 50 posters were entered in the contest.

* * *

CHARLES TRONE won a special prize for being the oldest spectator. Mr. Trone announced his age as 85 years. Little Miss Charyl Roby, aged 10 months, won the prize for the youngest person present at the judging.

Masquerade prizes were awarded in pre-school, grades 1 to 4, grades 5 to 8, high school, and adult groups in the following classes: prettiest, ugliest, and most comic. In most classes three prizes were given; $2.00; $1.00, and $.50. As a novel idea, prizes of one dollar and over were all paid in new silver dollars.

The winners in each class were: Prettiest: A. Pre-School: Marsha Cook, Terry Hoffhines, Jackie Lindsey. B. Grades 1-4: Janice Hicks, Marjorie Nungester, Marilyn Amos. C. Grade 5-8: Ronnie Bartholomew, Carol Cook, Judy Gloyd. D. High School: Joanne Graham, Anna Mae Slick. E. Adult: Jeraldine Cline, Ethel Cook, Bryan Grant.

Ugliest: A. Karen J. Rife, Bobby Smith, Jimmy Peters. B. Tommy Cline, Bob Hoover, Donald Younkin. C. Chester Fortner, Junior Schillinberg, Don Foreman. D. Richard Swank, Mauna Lee Graham. E. Josephine Cline, Ralph Fausnaugh, Robert Hicks.

Most Comic: A. Judy Huston and Nancy Tosca, Dianne Custer, Kenny Roese. B. Ruby Schillinberg, Gary Tigner, Jacky Smith. C. Velma Kuhn, Bob Boyer, Bill Hollenbeck. E. Mrs. Louise Hick, Harold Cameron, Virginia Kocher.

* * *

Best hobo Lucille Carpenter; Best witch Larry Hix; Best cowboy Michael Cloud; Best hill-billy, Mrs. Ciara Sampsill; Most original Judy Bowers; Fattest man David Stuck; Fattest lady Lula Wheeler; fattest child Janet Cline.

Because of the lateness of the judging, a few prize winners in other classes left before their names could be obtained or their prizes awarded. All who took part in the parade were given a ticket worth 10 cents in trade as a consolation prize if they received no other prize.

Pro Cage Loop Begins Its 6th Season Thursday

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—The National Basketball Association begins its sixth season tonight.

The ten-team pro loop opens up with two games. In one inaugural, Fort Wayne visits Syracuse and in the other the defending champion Rochester Royals play host to Baltimore. The other six teams in the league swing into activity Saturday.

A total of 333 games will be played before playoff time in the middle of March. Each club is slated to engage in 66 contests.

While the eastern division remains the same with the Philadelphia Warriors defending their title against New York, Boston, Syracuse and Baltimore, there will be a new addition to the western division.

In addition to Minneapolis, Rochester, Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, Milwaukee has joined the division, replacing the franchise which formerly operated in Tri-Cities, Illinois.

Buckeyes Stress Defensive For Wildcat Test

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1—Coach Woody Hayes and his overhauled Ohio State gridders aren't taking any chances against a Northwestern team whose specialty is ground-gaining.

Hayes put the Buck defense through a rugged practice session yesterday with an eye toward slowing down or stopping the Wildcats' ground attack Saturday in Ohio Stadium.

The hard, consistent tackling, the feinting and maneuvering with different variations of the Northwestern "T" impressed Hayes enough to have him remark:

"They were really aggressive out there tonight. That's what makes a good defense. There definitely was improvement."

Northwestern has gained 1,116 net yards on ground plays while picking up 546 through the air. Ohio State has moved 789 yards on the ground and 703 in the air.

Local Keglers Keep In Shape

Three Circleville keglers, intent in participating in their favorite sport, are making regular trips to a Lancaster bowling alley.

They are Art McGran, Dave Olney and Ward Skinner who join two Fairfield County men on a team in the Lancaster All-Star League. They play every Thursday night.

STAN THE MAN IS SECOND

Campanella Is Named MVP Winner Of National Loop

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Roy Campanella, the stocky Brooklyn Dodger catcher who refused to "fold," is the National League's most valuable player for 1951.

Campy was officially designated for the honor yesterday by the Baseball Writers' Association, who voted him in ahead of Stan Musial of the Cardinals and Monte Irvin and Sal Maglie of the Giants.

The Dodger receiver, considered in many quarters to be the game's best since Bill Dickey, piled up a total of 243 points to Musial's 191. Third place Irvin got 166 while Maglie received 153.

A 24-man committee did the voting and a first place ballot counted 14 points. Nine points were awarded for second place, eight for third and so on down the line.

* * *

CAMPANELLA was named on 11 first place ballots.

Although plagued by various injuries throughout the season, the burly backstop appeared in 143 games and batted .325. He drove in 108 runs and hit 33 homers.

In the important September stretch, while many of the Brooks stood by and watched their once mountainous lead of 13½ games wither away, Campanella hit .387.

Campy, a genial cigar-chewing pappy of five, is the third player in the last 13 years to be named from a non-pennant winner. Roy is the fifth Dodger in history to get the award.

He also is the first catcher to win the Kenesaw M. Landis trophy since Ernie Lombardi of the Reds in 1938.

Musial, the league's five time batting champion with a .355 mark and winner of the MVP award three times, was the only player to be named on all 24 ballots.

But Stan the man received only two first place designations. Irvin, the runs-batted-in king with 121, received five first place votes.

* * *

THE 23-GAME winning Maglie was followed by Brooklyn's Preacher Roe in fifth place with 138 points. Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers was sixth with 92 points. Fleet-footed Richie Ashburn of the Phillies was seventh with 69. Eighth place went to Bobby Thomson of the Giants with 62 and Murry Dickson and Ralph Kiner of the Pirates finished ninth and tenth with 59 and 49 points respectively.

Philadelphia's Jim Konstanty, who won the award in 1950, failed to receive even an "honorable mention" this time.

Of the 24 men who were named in the voting, seven were from Brooklyn, five from the Giants, three from Cincinnati and two each from the Phils and Pirates. Musial was the only Redbird named.

Mays Slated For New Exam By Draft Board

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 1—State Selective Service Director J. T. Johnson said today that Willie Mays, New York Giants outfielder, has been ordered to take another pre-induction examination.

Johnson said the 20-year-old rookie was classified 4-F by his local draft board in Birmingham because he flunked an aptitude test given as a part of the examination he took last week.

The director said ordering another test for Mays is not unusual. He explained:

"In view of the fact that Willie Mays was a high school graduate with better than average grades, I am requesting the Birmingham induction station to set a date for re-examination."

Don Greenwood Quits Post As Toledo Mentor

TOLEDO, Nov. 1—Toledo university's athletic board today is expected to accept the resignation of Head Football Coach Don Greenwood.

Greenwood, former University of Illinois and Cleveland Browns football star, turned in his resignation yesterday but did not disclose his reasons for the action.

However, it is understood that Greenwood was irked by what he termed officials' failure to protect players during the Toledo-Bowling Green game last week.

An argument which followed after Mel Triplett, Toledo fullback, was knocked out during the contest helped touch off a riot among fans and players after the game.

Rose Jet Earns Honors As Top Two-Year-Old

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Rose Jet has clinched honors as the best two-year-old filly of the year.

The trim Main Chance farm filly wrapped up the title with her impressive victory yesterday in the Demoiselle stakes at Jamaica.

Rose Jet brought home $32,600 more for her owner, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Graham, and boosted her earnings to $130,785 to date.

It was her third straight major stakes victory. Rose Jet took first money in the Matron and Selima at Laurel Park earlier.

Tigers To Seek Sixth Win Friday Against Light, Speedy Wildcats

Circleville high school's Tiger gridders will be looking for their sixth win in eight starts Friday when they invade the Wildcats of Westerville.

But the Tigers will have to put out a little something extra if they want to come back with a win.

Both teams to date have chalked up impressive records in their respective circles, Circleville with five wins, a tie and a loss and Westerville with six wins and one loss.

And both teams have rolled up a good number of points while allowing their opponents a maximum of two touchdowns per game.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE has amassed a total of 120 points so far this season in seven contests, Westerville has tallied 192.

And Circleville has allowed only 39 points to be scored against it while the Wildcat team has given up only 40 points.

Westerville's record this season has been 27-14 over Upper Sandusky; 46-0 over Centerburg; 21-6 over Marysville; 32-7 over Grove City, a 7-0 loss to London; 34-6 over Worthington; and 32-0 over Hilliards.

Circleville's season record consists of a 7-0 win over Lancaster; 18-6 win over Wilmington; 37-7 win over Hillsboro; 19-13 win over Monroe; tie against St. Charles; 32-0 win over Greenfield; and a 6-0 loss to Holy Rosary.

Actual comparisons between the two teams is impossible, since neither has played a common opponent nor even an opponent which has played an opponent of the other.

But Circleville will have at least one advantage over the Westervillers Friday night, an important advantage football-wise.

* * *

THE TIGERS will be sporting a good weight edge over the Wildcats, both on the line and in the backfield.

Westerville Coach Jim Scarfton has said his biggest boys in the lineup Friday night will be End Bob Townsend, Guard Dick Gallogly and Fullback Wayne Stratton—each weighing 170.

Circleville's lineup will feature the efforts of Big Bill Gillis, a strapping 255 pounder. Gillis to date has been instrumental in holding down enemy ground gainers.

Balancing Circleville's weight advantage in the contest will be the speed of the smaller Westerville gridders.

Westerville has been scouted to find a well-balanced squad, scoring honors about even in the backfield and two returning halfbacks, Dan Burwell and Bob Loar, who gave the Tigers bad moments last year.

The Tigers will be meeting the Wildcats for the sixth time in 16 years Friday night. Circleville has won four of the six contests during the period with scores of 18-13, 27-25, 30-12 and 40-13 last year. Westerville has won the other two, 19-12 and 20-0

Probable starting lineup for the Wildcat crew in Friday's meeting, due to begin at about 8 p. m. is:

Ends—Bob Townsend, Dan Morris.

Tackles—Tom Beum and Gene Kuhn.

Guards—Dick Gallogly, Charles Anderson.

Center—Paul Sanford.

Quarterback—Dewey Miller.

Halfbacks—Dan Burwell and Bob Loar.

Fullback—Wayne Stratton.

I often wonder who does these stupid things. Certainly, there are plenty of educated Germans who have read the Gettysburg Address. I wonder if the slimy Gerhart eisler, Soviet propagandist in East Germany, has not countered with a reminder that the inscription on the bell, attributed to Lincoln, was not spoken by Lincoln.

In the same circular, General Eisenhower is quoted as follows:

"In the battle for truth, you and I have a definite part to play through the Crusade for Freedom."

But is it truth to switch Lincoln from a nationalist to an internationalist, from an American to a one worlder?

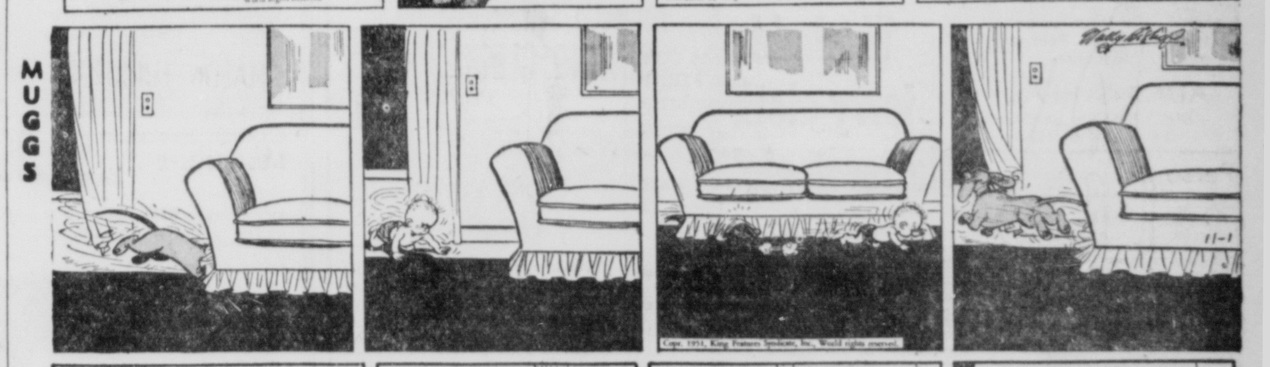

I make this protest because the evidence is clear in China, Korea, Iran, Egypt, in the British elections and wherever it is possible to gauge public opinion that America is being presented in a false light. Maybe we do not know how to tell our story.

But there is a wonderful American story to tell. For here, over a period of three centuries 50 races of man have learned to live together, in freedom. Here men and women have not feared government but have loved God and in the law of God have found a way of life which was best expressed by Thomas Jefferson in the preamble to the Declaration of Independence.

When some smartaleck substitutes for that glorious story a twisted sentence from Lincoln, I feel impelled to protest and to ask you to protest. We need never lie.

Walcutt's Announcement Sets Up May Primary Ballot

Pickaway's Senator Sure Of Win

He Thinks Lausche To Be Opponent

Ohio's 1952 political picture is beginning to shape up.

The announcement by Pickaway County's state senator, Roscoe Walcutt, a Republican, that he would be a candidate for governor in next May's primaries virtually set up the May ballot in both parties.

Walcutt was the first man in either party to declare his candidacy for the state's highest office. However, Governor Lausche is expected to seek an unprecedented fourth term as a Democrat, while Walcutt probably will have opposition from Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, a brother of Sen. Robert A. Taft but far more liberal in his views.

In fact, Charles Taft serves in Cincinnati's city council as a "Charterite," that faction composed of Democrats and dissident Republicans who now hold the reins in the Queen City.

Charles Taft is known to have contacted most if not all of the 88 Republican county chairmen in the state, and is expected to announce his plans shortly after next week's municipal election.

In some quarters Walcutt's announcement was seen as an attempt to beat Charles Taft to the punch.

* * *

WALCUTT IS CERTAIN to be backed by those old-line GOPsters who feel that Charles Taft has been playing footsie too long with the Democrats. If Taft comes in, an all-out, free-swinging fight for the Republican nomination is certain.

Walcutt, in fact, touched off the fuse for such an embroglio in his announcement with a verbal swipe both at Taft, his obviously-expected primary opponent, and at Lausche, the man Walcutt expects to face next November.

After the customary promise of "an energetic, hard-hitting campaign," Walcutt teed off on Taft in this manner:

"I shall run as a real Republican and not as a 'Republican' who has swallowed in whole or in part the New Deal philosophy of government."

Then, recognizing that "the Democratic nominee will be Frank Lausche," Walcutt had this to say:

"By reason of his recent blank-check endorsement at the White House of the whole Truman-New Deal mess, he has made it possible for the voters of Ohio to make a positive choice in this state between Trumanism and the kind of government in which Republicans believe."

* * *

THUS AN ENTIRE GOP ballot has shaped up—to receive, of course, a few added starters. But the Republicans could field a complete ticket today for major state offices, with Walcutt—and possibly Charles Taft—as gubernatorial candidates and Sen. John W. Bricker, who has announced his candidacy for reelection, leading the ticket.

The only empty spot to date is for state auditor, a post now held by Democrat Joseph T. Ferguson. Columbus Mayor James A. Rhodes, who once served as city auditor of Columbus, is being mentioned for that post to oppose Ferguson's expected bid for reelection.

Columbus Republican Attorney Fred J. Milligan has announced for lieutenant-governor, to oppose an expected reelection bid by George D. Nye, who with Lausche and Ferguson composes the Democratic contingent in the statehouse.

The other offices are held by Republicans who are expected to seek re-election. They are Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Treasurer Roger W. Tracy, and Attorney General C. William O'Neill.

The Democrats have a lot further to go. They do not even have a U.S. Senate candidate, although Price Administrator Michael DiSalle, former mayor of Toledo, and Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke are being mentioned.

Getting back to Walcutt, however.

* * *

THE WHITE-HAIRED majority leader, now 63, is completing his fifth term in the state senate, representing Franklin and Pickaway Counties.

He was minority leader in the 1949-50 session, and is chairman of the Ohio Program commission. He also headed the commission's predecessor, the Postwar Program Commission.

A native of Franklin County—in fact, he has never lived more than a mile from his birthplace in Clinton township—he attended public schools and Otterbein college. He then taught rural schools at age 19 until he became a reporter in the Franklin County courts.

He studied law meanwhile, and was admitted to the bar in 1925. He is a lay leader in the Methodist church, active in fraternal affairs, and has been president of the board of trustees of the Masonic Home at Springfield for a number of years.

He is married and has two sons and two daughters.

Winnie Forgets His New Position

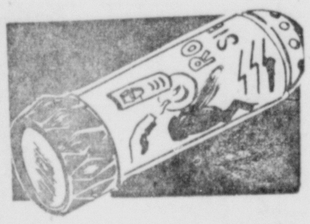

LONDON, Nov. 1—Newly-elected Prime Minister Winston Churchill evoked cheers and laughter yesterday when he entered the House of Commons and from habit started walking toward his old seat on the opposition party's front bench.

Amid Conservative cheers and Laborite laughter he realized his mistake and went to the government bench.
